Members Crowded Out of Seats. While the call of districts for membe mmittee was in progress the con ation got into terrible disorder as a outsiders crowding a hundred of more of the delegates from their seats. A. S. Trude, of Chicago, vigorously demanded that the chair exercise his au-thority by causing the expulsion of the ers, but without result, and a number of the delegates failing to get their ats left the place in disgust.

The only contest developed in the call of e twenty-two congressional districts was the eleventh, where the supporters of rnor Altgeld and the comptroller of currency clashed. The chairman of delegation insisted that there was no while a member of the Eckels challenged the accuracy of the and protested against the empt to usurp the rights of clates that was being attempted matter was finally referred to the

A Fierce Address by Chairman Ladd. When the convention reassembled Hon. Charles K. Ladd, who was presented as permanent chairman, made a fierce address. Ex-Congressman Lee Worthington, of Peoria, declared that the eastern goldbugs are responsible for foryt-cent wheat and ten-dollar horses, but that there was a sentiment brewing in the west that would paralyze them.

Governor Altgeld made his appearance or the platform, was given a tremendous ovation and spoke at length.

The governor's allusions to President Claveland were received with tumultuous applause, but when he announced that his physical and financial conditions would prevent him entering the canvass for a reelection a depressing silence followed. The next moment, with a mighty shout of "No!" the convention rose en masse and repeated the evation that greeted his entrance. When the report of the committee on resolutions was submitted ex-Congressmen Williams and Fithian protested against the unit rule plank, but the protest was ruled out and the platform was adopted with a few voices in the negative.

No Two Ways About This Platform. These are the principal planks of the platform adopted: "We favor the soundest and safest money known to man and the equal rights of coinage and full legal tender power; we demand the repeal of the republican and plutocratic legislation which demonetized silver and reduced it to the basis of token money, destroying by one-half the stock of real money and by doubling the work to be done by gold—doubled its purchasing power so that the farmers and producers had to give twice as much work to get a dollar as they formerly had, and found it hard to meet the debts, interest, taxes and fixed charges which were not lowered. In this way the market for those things which the mechanic and laborer made was de-stroyed and the factories had to shut down.

"By thus taking out of the commercial world one-half of its blood, industry and trade have been paralyzed and idleness and misery have been spread over the civilized world. With the richest natural resources and with the most industrious, frugal and enterprising population and the most abundant harvest, our people are in distress. Three per cent of our population own over half of the wealth of this republic and almost the only men who prosper are the bond sharks and the men who fatten off the mis-ery of their country.

After breakfast they were introduced to Governor Altgeld, who, while greeting them warmly and speaking in warm terms of their candidate, held out no hope that the convention would adopt any resolution in his interest. Afterwards the delegation endeavored to do some missionary work among the crowds in the hotel lobbles Here they encountered Secretary Walsh, of the Iowa central committee; Judge Van Wagenan, Senators Brewster and Davis, and other Iowans who were doing a simi lar service for ex-Governor Boles.

Ohio Democrats Will Adopt Free Coinage Resolutions-Warner for Permanent Chairman.

Columbus, O., June 23 .- The district meet ng elected the committees for the democratic state convention tonight. The committee on resolutions contains out four members who are in favor of the present single gold standard. They are J. C. Patterson, of Dayton; Frank Hurd, of Toledo; Charles J. Estep and ence which we gained a hundred years ago J. D. Bremer, of Cleveland. The other seventeen members are radical advocates of free silver. This leaves no further doubt that the convention will adopt a free silver resolution. Contesting delega tions in the eighteenth district held separate meetings and selected two sets ommittee men-one is for gold and the other for free silver. The silver members will, no doubt, be recognized by the cor vention. The gold standard democrats being in so hopeless a minority will probably make little protest against the free coinage plank.

Governor Campbell, in an interview published this evening, said he was opposite to sending John W. Bookwalter and Allen W. Thurman to Chicago as delegates, at denounced the democratic party, and Thurnan because he was too radical.

The local democrats are making a hard fight against Thurman, and he may be efeated for delegate at large. The committee on permanent organization has decided to make A. J. Warner president of the American Bimetallic League, permanent chairman of the convention This is to emphasize the victory of the free silver faction. The credentials committee agreed to seat the free silver delegates in the Stark county contest. The morrow morning.

GENERAL LEE'S LATE GUEST Has a Faculty of Telling Some Interesting Stories.

IF HE BROUGHT ANY OFFICIAL LETTERS

He Does.

He Has Not Yet Handed Them to the President-Yellow Fever Raging.

New York, June 23.-Internal Revenue Collector William Ryan, of Richmond, Va., who has been in Cuba a week visiting Consul General Lee and who was detained on Hoffman island for twenty-four hours because he did not have acclimatization papers, arrived in this city this afternoon. In an interview with a representative of the Southern Associated Press Collector Ryan declared that he went to Cuba on a purely social visit, but in the next breath stated just as positively that he had been instructed officially not to talk on the result of his visit to Cuba.

"Do you bring any documents addressed to the state department or to President asked.

"I bring no official documents whatever, he replied with a strong accent on official. "Do you bring any papers written by General Lee and addressed to the state department or President Cleveland?" "I would rather not answer that question, but I have no official papers of any Mr. Ryan told of his trip.

"I arrived in Havana Saturday morning week ago. The next, Sunday, I dined with the consul general, and on Monday vent on horseback into the country as far as the trocha. I was not molested. I met several insurgents and talked to them They spoke highly of General Lee and hope ful of their cause. The general sentiment which is very strong, is for annexation to the United States. They do not want libert if liberty means a republic, because they see they could not maintain it. When I approached the trocha I saw the Sjanish guards, and instead of courting an argument I turned my horse's head and retreat. ed. I was not halted or even saluted by the Spaniards. The whole country to the west of Havana as far as I traveled is devastated by fire. The cane is all gone, and the property is in a generally wretched condition. General Lee, I may say, is thoroughly conversant with the military system of both Spaniards and the insurgents on the island." Then Mr. Ryan made a peculiar statenent. He said that General Lee and himself had inspected the trocha from the roof of a yacht clubhouse twelve miles from Havana. Then he explained that the trocha was twenty miles from Havana and admitted rather meekly that the inspection could not be very minute while they were eight miles away. He also made a declaration that surprised some of those who were conversant with affairs in Cuba. One night he was walking about in Havana "Would you like to meet Antonio

"We swapped pictures," said Mr. Ryan.
"Maceo, of course, was not in uniform and was dressed very poorly." "How did he get past the trocha and is t not dangerous for a man like Maceo to be parading around Havana?"

'Well, yes; it is a little dangerous," re olled Mr. Ryan, "but you know the Spar ards are asleep half the time. Why it is said down there that he visits Havana about once a week to talk to the American agents of the revolutionary party

Mr. Ryan said he tried to draw Maceo out regarding the condition of affairs on he island and that he replied: "I do not know much about the civil end

Mr. Ryan described General Weyler as remarkably courteous but determined-looking man. Mr. Ryan admitted that he rought information from Cuba, but would not admit that it was in writing. He said that as a matter of fact General Lee started to work on the Cuban report on Thurs day last and that it would leave Havans on the Ward line steamship sailing from there on Thursday. THAT ALLEGED LEE LETTER.

Officials at Washington Decline To Eelieve That It Has Been Written. Washington, June 23.—The publication of an alleged letter said to have been written by Consul General Fitzhugh Lee, at Hava-ment officials with grave suspicion. Until the identity of the "relative" is established they refuse to believe that Consul General Lee, charged with important semi-diplo-matic duties, can have discussed public matters of such grave importance through the medium of private correspondence and it is certainly regarded as incredible that he could have authorized the publication of his letter. Until official confirmation is received from Consul General Lee that he has done so, the story will be treated by the department as an invention. The letter referred to discusses the situation in Cuba in about the same terms of condemnation of the Spaniards and laudaby many newspaper correspondents favora-ble to the Cuban cause during the past few months. The alleged letter so exactly coincides with what has been published from the pens of these correspondents that it might easily have been written in Wash ington. It adds nothing to the general stock of information upon the situation in Cuba and its value, if genuine, consists of the semi-official confirmation it gives of the published stories of incredible Spanish brutality and Cuban sacrifice, heroism and

IT'S A REGULAR GEORGIA CROWD

That Is Now Gathering For the State Convention.

MACON WILL BE CROWDED

Before the Democratic Party Begins Its Work.

THE SENTIMENT, THE PEOPLE EXPRESSED

Will Be Echoed by the Delegates in the Platform and the Work Thursday.

Macon, Ga., June 23 .- (Special.)-All the candidates for judges and solicitor general are here. Governor Atkinson and Chairman Steve Clay and Captain Evan P. Howell, and Congressman Charles Moses, heading the Coweta delegation, are here. The regular Chatham delegation is also here, but the candidates for state offices fill the hotels and the crowd is already so large that it does not seem possible any sleeping quarters in the hotels can be found to sandwich in the delegates that will arrive between now and tomorrow evening when caucus will meet. The buzz of the candidate for judges and solicitors fills all space tonight. The newspaper correspondents' ears are filled with the whispers, "Can't you say a good word for Billy Jones, or Jimmy Smith, who wants to be solicitor of the Sandycreek circuit?" The next moment it is John Brown wants to be delegate at large or Dink Botts wants to go as a delegate to Chicago from sixteenth. It is a regular Georgia convention crowd. Every fellow here is a candidate or is booming a friend.

As to the Platform. As to what the convention proper will do s all fixed. The few gold delegates already here say the gold crowd will make no fight or protest. "What's the use?" said Billy Osborne, "we'll all have to be for silver in a few days-just as well take our medicine gracefully." That is the general sentiment. The platform will be a straight free coinage 16 to 1 by the United States independent of other nations. The onvention will work as smoothly as an oiled machine, with full ball bearings, at

There may be a little fighting in the caucus tomorrow night over the delegates at large, for there are a full dozen and a few more men to whom the great cause owes gates at large, and, of course, they cannot all be. Then there will be some fighting in the caucuses of the district delegations. Almost every county has a delegate who would likewise be pleased to pay his own expenses to serve the party in the great Chicago auditorium on the 7th of July, and a few days thereafter. But they all cannot go. However, all these contests will be settled before the convention meets, and that body will have little to do save respond aye to the motions put by the chairman. Everything will be unanimous then Governor Atkinson and all the state house officers will be unanimously renominated. There has been some little talk of Wheel Horse Tom Lyons running against Coloture, but the boys tonight say Tom will probably not interfere with the unanimity

Officials of the Convention. Congressman Charley Moses, who heads the Coweta delegation, will probably make the speech nominating Governor Atkinson. Moses is eloquent if anything, and will arouse enthusiasm for the deservedly Clarence Wilson, of Fort Gaines, is slated for temporary chairman, and everything points to his election tonight. Of course. Steve Clay will be unanimously chosen for permanent chairman, which means chairman of the state campaign committee to again stir the party to glorious victory in both state and national elections.

Colonel J. W. Robertson, of Habersham county, is sure to be chairman of the platform committee, and his terse and ringing English will be in evidence in the resoutions which will be adopted with enthustartic unanimity. The delegation sent to Chicago will be instructed to vote as a unit on all questions, the chairman casting the vote for the delegation. There will be no indorsement on any particular candidate for the presidency. The convention will, however, instruct the delegation to vote for none but one pledged to free coin age of silver at 16 to 1, and a man who is known to be such. No individual candidate seems to be much spoken of, indeed, the issue overshadows all men, and on the great issue the delegates to this convention will reach the goal of victory.

The delegation will go to Chicago instructed to vote for the man they believe o be the most available.

Contesting Delegations. Up to date but two contests have been noted. The delegation from Chatham headed by Pope Barrow will have a contest against a delegation headed by Peter Meldrim. The latter delegation will claim to be entitled to half of the delegates, but the Barrow delegation, claiming to be regular will demand that it have all the votes of none. The fight is purly local as to Chatham county, the financial question playing no part in it. The other contest is from Lowndes. West and Denmark were elected as gold delegates. Judge Whittington and Colonel Haredoe are here contesting. They claim irregularity of the call for a county primary. Polls were only open at' the courthouse and the conditions were such that the silver men could vote neither ticket. Consequently claiming unfairness on the part of the committee they held a regular mass meeting later and elected two delegates;

Of course Mark Hardin is here. There could not be a convention unless Mark was on hand, and, of course, Mark wants to be and proposes to be clerk of the next house. But G. W. M. Tatum is here to protest against that. Mr. Tatum, who was a member of the last house, wants the clerkship himself, and he is soliciting otes for the same. Then Colonel George the penitentiary, is booked to come tomor row and protest the claims of both Hardin and Tatum for this fat, juicy plum. The convention cannot do anything for them, but the boys who are to be in the next legislature will be here, and this is a good time to whisper sweet words and promises in their ears.

Congressman Charley Moses, who will be conspicuous in the convention, proposes to offer a resolution indorsing the act of the executive committee in ordering a primary in every county on the same day and make the same a law of the party in the future. He also favors a resolution that no man shall represent a county in a state convention unless he be elected as a dele gate or alternate. Both of these will prob-E. W. B. ably be adopted.

MACON IS READY.

ALL ARRANGEMENTS HAVE BEEN COMPLETED.

Delegations from Each Congressional District Will Have Separate Rooms in the Courthouse.

Macon, Ga., June 23 .- (Special.)-It is the understanding here that the state convention will be called to order by Chairman Clay, of the executive committee, at noon on next Thursday. It is proposed that the several congressional district caucuses be held on Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Each district will have to have a separate room, as the delegates from each county in each congressional district will select two distinct delegates and two alternates to the national convention and present their names to the state convention for ratification and election. Each district will also select a member for the committee on plat-form and credentials, each district independently attend to other preliminary matters, hence separate caucus rooms for the delegates from each district are necessary.

Bibb county democratic executive committee met today at the courthouse at noon. Chairman Jeff Ware presiding, to complete arrangements for the entertainment of the convention and among the business transacted was the appointment of a sub-committee, consisting of T. J. Carling, chairman; W. G. F. Price and T. J. Ware to obtain eleven rooms for the delegates of the eleven congressional districts. committee decided to secure the rooms in the county courthouse, which immediately adjoins the Academy of Music, where the general convention is to be held.

The delegates from the first second and delegates from the first, second and third districts will occupy three rooms on the first floor of the courthouse Those from the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth districts will occupy five rooms on the second floor.

The delegates from the ninth, tenth and eleventh districts will occupy three rooms on the third floor.

Thus all the districts will have rooms in same building and within twenty yards of the convention hall.

At the entrance door of the courthouse will be a directory board which will show to the delegates the location of their rooms, and on each door will be the number of the district. There will be chairs in abundance, plenty of breeze and ice water and every arrangement perfected necessary for the comfort and convenience of the delegates.

Early on the Scene. The trains this morning brought in a number of delegates and candidates for office and some general visitors. Among the earliest arrivals was that sterling demo crat and able jurist, Judge George F. Go-ber, of the Blue Ridge circuit. He has a room at the Hotel Lanier, which he will share with the popular solicitor general of his circuit, Hon. George Brown. Judge Gober will leave for Marietta some time tomorrow and will return Thursday. Tomor row night at their beautiful and hospitable home Judge and Mrs. Gober will celebrate the fifteenth anniversary of their mar The ever genial Mark Hardin, who has for years been the efficient clerk of the Georg'a house of representatives, also rolled in

Hon. B. D. Evans, Jr., always bright and interesting, the talented solicitor of the middle circuit, arrived today at 11 o'clock. Mr. Evans will not be a candidate for re-election as solicitor general, but it is believed that the day is not far distant when he will be elevated to the superior court bench.

Mr. H. M. Stanley, a delegate from the Citizens' Club, of Savannah, is here. Mr. Stanley is one of the leading democrats of Chatham. He is oil inspector at Savan-nah and a member of the governor's staff. Accompanying Mr. Stanley is City Clerk Manney, of Savannah, one of the most popular and genial fellows in the world. The following candidates for solicitor general were moving around in the corridors of the Hotel Lanier at an early hou is equally true that it is the early worm that is frequently caught: Dick Russell, of the North Carolina circuit, who is a candidate for solicitor, and Charlie Brant, who opposes him; John. R. Irwin, of the Pataula circuit; B. T. Rawlins, of the middle circuit; W. W. Osborn, of the eastern circuit; Tom Hutchinson, of the Cherokee circuit; W. E. Thomas, of the southern circuit.

Addresses of Welcome.

The Bibb county executive democrat ommittee at its meeting today selected Hon. S. B. Price, mayor of Macon, to de-liver an address of welcome to the convention Thursday morning in behalf of the city of Macon, and Hon. T. J. Ware, chairman of the executive committee, was se lected to deliver an address of welcom n behalf of the democracy of Bibb county. These addresses will be delivered at the Academy of Music. Macon and Bibb coundeeply appreciate the assembling of the democratic hosts of Georgia here, and through her chosen representatives desires to express their thanks and appreciation. State Treasurer Hardeman and Assistant Treasurer W. J. Speer will arrive tomorrow morning and will stop at the Hotel row morning and will stop at the Hotel Lanier. They have handsome rooms ad-joining the apartments of Governor At-kinson. The convention will nominate Mr. Speer to succeed Treasurer Hardeman, who is not a candidate for re-election. The Fulton county delegation is expected to arrive in the morning. This delegation has four handsome connecting rooms on the second floor.

Others who have engaged rooms at the Hotel Lanier are ex-United States Senator Pat Walshi 'Mayor Herman Myers, of Savannah; Boykin Wright, of Augusta; Congressman Tate, of the ninth; Hon-James Griggs, of Dawson; Colonel Ed Wight, of Albany, and a host of others. Many rooms have also been engaged at the Brown house for prominent dignataries throughout the state, candidates for office and visitors in general. The Brown house will be exceedingly popular with delegates and others.

The Convention Hall.

The Academy of Music is in readiness for the convention. It presents a beauti-ful and attractive scene. The stage has been elaborately decorated and every con venience and arrangement have been per-fected for the assembling of the democratic hosts. Some of the delegates and visitors who have arrived paid a visit today to the Academy of Music, and they were much pleased with the general arrangement They say the building is better adapted in every way for convention purposes than the hall of the house of representatives at the state capitol. The academy is ready and awaits the coming of the clans. Among the prominent arrivals tonight were Congressmen Moses and Tate and the following candidates: Solicitor Geoneral W. C. Snodgrass, of Gainesville; Clarence Wilson, of Fort Gaines; Frank A. Hooper, of Americus; Lewis Thomas, of Atlanta; Trammell Stor, of Dalton; R. H. Lewis, of Sparta; Moses Wright, of Rome; R. W. Holland, of Marietta; O. H. B. Bloodworth, of Forsyth. The following candidates for judges: M. M. Spence, of Camilla; W. I. Heyward, of Atlanta; A. W. Fite, of Car tersville; T. R. Jones, of Atlanta, Other nent arrivals were: J. A. # DUNCAN GETS AFTER EVANS

Demanding a Show of Fees Out of the Bond Transaction.

WITHOUT GLOVES EVANS

Is Handled by the New Senatorial Candidate.

THE GOVERNOR'S BROTHER TAKES A HAND

From the Audience He Gives the Lie, but No Blows Are Passed-Girl Named for Evans.

Kingstree, S. C., June 23.-Interest in the enatorial contest was high here today, and the announcement made this afternoon that Judge Earl had, late last night, again filed his pledge to enter the race and it had been accepted, added a new feature. When Governor Evans made the announcement of General Earl's entry in the race he said he would rip him up the back when he came on the stump; that he had better, if he was going to run the race, get some one to sit on the bench and come before the people. General Earl is regarded as one of the ablest men in the state.

The joint debate between Governor Evans and John T. Duncan for the senate was the feature of the day. Mr. Duncan opened the debate and had the reply, Governor Evans speaking two hours beveen. Duncan demanded that Evans get Broker Rhind, of Augusta, to produce the books of original entry to show what fees Evans got out of the bond transaction. Nothing else would clear it up. Evas's statement, he said, showed that only $17,-000 of the commissions was locked up in Baltimore, but he had not said what be came of the balance-eighty-odd thousand. It was his duty to the state to show that o agreement had existed between himself and Mr. Rhind as to a division of the spoils. He had not said what he was going to get. He charged the state for bringing a friendly case and Governor Tillman told him he did not deserve any. In referring to Evans's connection with the dispersary, Duncan intimated that a circular had been issued from the governor's office to all dispensaries requiring them to give bond in a surety company, and that the governor's brother, an agent for such a company, had gone around and got the insurance. In this connection R. B. Evans, in the audience said: "That's a le!" Governor Evans sprang up and told his brother to hush up. Duncan took no

Governor Evans devoted much of his speech to ridiculing Duncan unmersifully on account of his financial failures and in tellectual deficiencies. Then he repeated his bond states ent made at Manning. The dispensary circular he knew nothing of, as it had been issued without his knowledge. As to Mr. Rhind's books, they could not be called for until Mr. Rhind had been proved a perjurer. That was acording to all rules of law and its procedure. Mr. R ind made a sworn statement, which had been published, and it must be disproved. What right had he or Mr. Duncan to demand to see Mr. Rhind's books, whether Rhind had or had not sworn to a lie on the stand? There was a fee due him, he said, as Rhind's lawyer in the bond case. It had would pay him what was right. And he charged a fee to the syndicate for drawing a bond. Governor Tillman paid members of the legislature fees for legal work, and why should be be expected to work for a yankee syndicate for nothing? Governor Evans said if Duncan expected to "take a muddy sow and get into the United States senate," he had better jump in a river and feed the fishes. He promised to leave only a grease spot of his opponent by the end of the campaign. Duncan's head, he said, was bald, but he should not play the buzzard act. A man in the crowd told the governor he had named his girl after him.

"God bless her!" said Evans. "I know she is pure; and I am as pure as she. I'll give her a silk dress sure."

Mr. Duncan said he would not take the dirty flings made at him by this saintly man—as pure as a little girl. "Oh, God!" he exclaimed, "if I dared bring out all that I know in that regard, South Carwould be appalled at the facts!" He said Evans was a lawyer of the Ely kind: he knew how to quote near the truth, but he worst lies were those near the truth. The audience was very undemonstrative Duncan received more careful attention in his reply than during his first speech The ridicule of the governor caused some laughter at his expense,

DIRECT FROM CANTON.

H. CLAY EVANS HAS BEEN TO SEE THE BOSS.

Says the Financial Plank of the St Louis Platform Was Made by the Western Men.

Chattanooga, Tenn.; June 23 .- (Special.) H. Clay Evans returned tonight direct from Canton, O., where he had been in conference with Major McKinley as to the course of the southern campaign. Evans attributes his defeat for the vice presidency to the action of New York and Pennsylvania in agreeing to vote as a unit. "The financial plank," said Mr. Evans, "was the proper thing, and the story that Platt and the eastern delegates forced the platform on McKinley is all wrong. The platform, gold standard and all, pared by the west and put in shape be fore the eastern delegates came on. Mr. Fairbanks outlined the platform in his speech, which was prepared a week in advance and had been seen by the leaders and by McKinley. I was in conference on the money plank Wednesday before the convertion, and I made a copy of the plank on an envelope in that conference. That was before Platt had arrived, and Lodge did not come until the Monday following. LARGER THAN HEN'S EGGS. These Hailstones Were the Size of a Man's Head.

Loganville, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—One of the worst wind, rain and hail storms that have struck this part of the country passed near here Monday afternoon. Great large lumps of hail fell in immense quantities while the rain washed the land hadly and the wind injured the crops considerably. One man in reporting the rain said that it washed all the face of the said that it washed all the face of the earth off and though it did not fill up all the ditches with hall as large as a man's head, hurt the cotton and crop considerably. The Constitution correspondent hired a horse and buggy and went out to take a look at the injured section. All the soft or plowed ground was nearly washed away. In some places it was leaving the bare, hard ground. Leaves and blossoms were knocked off of the cotton stalks by the hall, while the wind blew it over. Corn was badly damaged.

The Platform Demands the Immediate Restoration.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 23.-The demo cratic state convention meets here tomor row. Governor Matthews will control the organization and it is altogether probable that free silver will win. There will be a fight, however, as a minority report will be introduced. District conventions were held throughout the state today, some of them being attended with considerable excitement. To the surprise of everybody the "sound money" people were able to control the tenth district, and put a "sound money" man on the resolutions committee, as well as two "sound money" men on the Chicago delegation, J. F. Gallaher, of Michigan City, will bring in the minority report favoring a gold standard plank and it will be supported by W. D. Bynum and other leaders on the floor. The delegates to the Chicago convention were elected in this, the seventh, district tonight.

The "sound money" men elected two in the tenth and two in the seventh, but one of these latter is contested by the silver men. The plan of Governor Matthews to gain control of the seventh district convention failed because the credentials committee did not get through its work in time to see the silver delegates before the meeting of the district. One other gold delegate was elected in the third district, but he was tied up with silver instruc J. G. Shanklin declined to stand as candidate for governor and the nomina-tion will thus go to ex-Congressman B. F. Shively, of South Bend, Ind., by acclamation. He is a radical silver man.

The financial plank in the platform reads:

"We maintain the time-honored demo cratic principle of bimetallism and reiterate our allegiance to that soundest and most honest monetary system, and demand the immediate and independent restoration of silver by the free and unlimited coinage of both gold and silver as primary money t the ratio of 16 to 1, without awaiting the action or consent of any other nation, such coinage to be full legal tender for all debts

The other planks in the platform declare n favor of the present tariff law on the theory that the lack of free coinage is the sole cause of the present depressed financial conditions; gives Governor Matthews a strong indorsement for the presidential nomination; declares strongly in favor of the independence of Cuba: demands the election of United States senators by popular vote, and reaffirms the "time honored doctrine" of personal rights without specifically mentioning the Nicholson

The state committee met at $:30 this evening. James W. Hinckley, chairman, presided. Two vacancies on the committee were filled. The chairman was instructed to present the name of John Boyd Thacher of Albany, for temporary chairman of the convention. The chairman announced that members of committees and officers of the convention would be made by congressical instead of senatorial districts. The platform which will be adopted will follow very much on the lines of the former declarations by the democracy of this state.

President Cleveland's administration will be indorsed. The financial plank will be a strong declaration of international bimetallism—the present gold standard to be maintained until leading commercial nations agree to act in concert establishing coinage values for gold and silver. Free coinage of silver at present ratio will be declared impracticable.

A strong declaration in favor of free Cuba will be made, and the unit rule in national convention will be advocated.

It was resolved to make a fight for two of the delegates at large and to prevent, if possible, an outright declaration of the gold standard in the platform.

When the convention reassembled two reports from the committee on resolutions were presented. The majority is as follows:

"We, the democrats of Wisconsin, in state convention assembled, indorse the wise and patriotic administration of President Cleveland. We commend the cours in congress of our able senators, William F. Vilas and John L. Mitchell, in their faithful adherence to the principle of the democrats of Wisconsin. We believe that tariff for revenue only would extend erce to the utterm of the earth and untrammelled would advance our country to the fore most place among the nations. therefore, firm in our adherence t therefore, firm in our adherence to the doc-trine enunciated by the last national democratic convention, that this government should impose no tariff taxes except for

"Realizing this logical demand for the best money for international trade, realizing also the dangers of a flat currency in democratic use, and aware that the pres ent condition of commercial distress calls for the patriotic and sturdy maintenance of national honor and financial integrity, we declare ourselves opposed to the fre-and unlimited coinage of silver and in favo of gold, the highest monetary standard o the world. "We hereby direct the delegates fro

Wisconsin to the national democratic con vention to be held in Chicago July 16th next, to vote as a unit on all subjects andidates, when and as a majority of the delegation may direct."

The minority report was as follows:

"The delegates reassembled at 3:55 o'clock.
The report of the credentials committee gave the silver men one more champion on the floor, Judge Mallory, of Milwaukee, being seated as a proxy. The committee on permanent organization reported in favor .f making the temporary officers permanent and it was carried.

When Mr. Usher, from the committee on resolutions, read the majority report, the names of Cleveland, Vilas and Mitchell were cheered to the echo and there were also loud cheers at the financial part.

When Mr. Silverthorn took the floor to read the minority report the cheers croke louder than ever and his friends demonstrated that they had wonderful lung power. He called the leaders of both parties protoplastic prevaricators.

Loud shouts for Vilas followed and a perfect pandemonium of applause greeted the suggestion. The senator took the platform in response to the cheers, which continued for some moments, and made a stirring appeal for the gold standard.

Speeches followed by Delegates Dockery, of Ashland, for silver; Louis J. Bohmrich, of Kenosha, for a straddle in the financial question, and General Bragg, for gold.

The minority report was rejected—217 to 129—and the majority report was unanimously passed.

FROM WISCONSIN TO CHICAGO.

The Delegates Are Gold Men, but They Heard from Free Coinage Members.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 22.—The Bijon opera house was crowded to the doors this morning long before il o'clock, the time set for calling the state democratic convention to order. Upon the stage were gathered the old-time leaders—Senator Vilas, General Bragg, W. C. Silverthorn, Thomas B. Barton and other notables who were cheered as they took their seats.

At Il o'clock promptly ex-Governor Peck, chairman of the state central committee, read the call and introduced Thomas F. Frawley, of Eau Claire, to act as temporary chairman. Mr. Frawley was received with cheers After the addresses the usual committees were appointed. In all cases the selections of the district conventions held early this morning were independent of the convention of some well-known advocate of free silver coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1 was reported. Especially was this the case when the name of W. C. Silverthorn, of Wausani, was announced to represent the ninth district. Everybody seemed to know he was for silver and there was, enthusiastic applause at the mention of his name. After this the convention took a recess till 2:30 o'clock.

During the recess the free silver men to the number of about sixty had a caucus.

ASSAILANT UNKNOWN

Renson Was Robbed of Everything of

Value He Had on His Person. HIS INJURIES NOT REGARDED AS SERIOUS

He Is the Son of Berry Benson, the Author, and Is One of Augusta's Popular Citizens.

Augusta, Ga., June 23.-(Special.)-A most outrageous case of highway robbery came to light this morning. Charley Benson, a son of Mr. Berry Benson, the writer, was out for a spin last night. At about 12 o'clock he was on the Milledgeville road not far from Wheeler's crossing and riding alone without a thought of danger, when auddenly there was a flash before his eyes and he knew nothing more until 4 o'clock this morning. Then he found that he had been robbed of everything valuable, including his bicycle. Young Benson is a collector for the Bradley Fertilizer Company and had $58 of the company's money in his pocket at the time. This was gone as were also his keys.

When seen this morning Mr. Benson' forehead looked as if he had received powerful blow. There is a big lump and around it the flesh is discolored, but the skin is not broken. The young fellow made about the following statement of the affair Benson's Statement.

"I visited a lady friend until 11 o'clock last night; I had a wretched headache, and on leaving concluded to go out for a the country with the expectation that the fresh air would stop it. I was on the Milledgeville road, five miles from the city, riding along near a hedge when I was struck. I neither saw nor heard any one. When I regained consciousness i was about 4 o'clock. I found my way to the house of a Mr. Campbell and he rought me into the city this morning in

THE VERDICT A SURPRISE

The Jury Was Out Four Days Before

Mashington, Ga., June 23.—(Special.) Never have the people of Wilkes county been as much surprised at the outcome of a trial as they were when the jury acquitted J. L. Sutton, after having been out four days and nights. Sutton was charged with being accessory before the fact and R. L. Hinton,

Principal, in the murder of a negro near Metasville, in this (Wilkes) county, about 4 year ago. The negro was found lying dead at the end of a row where he had been plowing, with a load of shot in his head. and Sutton, a few days previous to this, had a case in the justice court to decide the ownership of a certain hog. The case went against Sutton and he was heard to make threats against the negro, and when the negro was found dead, suspicion pointed at once to Sutton, and he was arrested; along with Hinton, who, the commitment trial, confessed having killed the negro by direction of Sutton, who threatened to kill him if he did not

R. L. Hinton, having pleaded guilty, was sentenced by Judge Seaborn Reese to be hanged on August 21st. A petition for pardon was at once drawn up and signed first by Judge Reese. It has also the sig-nature of Solicitor General Howard. Every juryman expressed a willingness to sign it.

Rev. T. W. O'Kelly Delivered th Welcome Address-President J. S. White Re-Elected.

Griffin, Ga., June 23 .- (Special.)-Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning the Baptist Young People's Union was called to order by President J. L. White, of Macon, and began its three days' session at the Baptist church. Many prominent Baptists from all over the state are here, and the exercises are proving both entertaining and instructive to the large crowds that are attending.

About 150 delegates are here already. and more are expected on the afterno trains. Among those already here are Dr. J. B. Gambrell, late president of Mercer university, while Dr. Henry McDonal. is expected to arrive tomorrow music is in charge of G. W. Argabrite, of Madison, and is one of the tures of the convention.

Organization was perfected this morning. Rev. J. L. White led the opening devotion al exercises at 10 o'clock. Then came the proliment of the delegates, after which Rev. T. W. O'Kelly, pastor of the Griffin Baptist church, welcomed the delegates to our midst. The response was delivered by Professor Macon, of Mercer university The names of the delegates present were then read out by Rev. Thomas M. Callaway, and the convention proceeded to the lection of its officers.

On motion it was decleded to elect all officers by ballot, but after Rev. J. L. White had been re-elected president there was a motion to reconsider the action egard to the vice presidents. It was caried and a nominating committee was appointed, who returned the ames: First vice president, T. W. O'Kel y, Griffin; second vice president, Henderson Hallman, Atlanta; third vice presiden W. A Colony of 500 Will Leave Alabama This Fall. Selma, Ala., June 23.-(Special.)-Bishop H. M. Turner, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, recently returned from Liberia and Rev. D. Dwanee, of south Africa, addressed 1,000 negroes here tonight, urging them to emigrate to Liberia. A colony from this county went to Liberia last spring and have sent back glowing re ports. A colony estimated at 500 will leave this fall as soon as their crops are gathered. No opposition is made to their going, as it only makes the more room for thrifty western farmers, who have commenced to move this way. move this way.

THE NEGRO IS MISSING.

It Is Not Known Whether He Escaped or Not.

Yorkville, S. C., June 23.-(Special.) There is a mysterious sensation at Corp, seven miles west of here. The details are seven miles west of here. The details are just growing current. It seems that a poor but respectable white lady, Miss Wallace, was hoeing cotton in a field, when a negro approached her and made an infamous proposal. The lady raised her hoe in a threatening manner and screamed for help. The negro ran away and as soon as the neighbors could be aroused a pursuit was started and continued for nearly two days. It is not known as to what disposition was made of the negro—if he was caught at all.

DID NOT WEAR MASKS.

But They Took the Negro from the Jail and Hung Him.

Nashville, Tenn., June 23.—A special to The Sun from Trenton, Tenn., says that the negro who was brought there some weeks ago and lodged in jail for safe-keeping, having been charged with rape in Weakley county, was taken from the jailer this morning at 1 o'clock and hanged to a tree about one mile from town. The mob was from Weakley county and none were masked. They were not expected and so quiet were they that no one in the town knew of the lynching save the jailer and night police until after the people began to stir this morning. The people here are very indignant because a Weakley county negro was lynched on Gibson county soil. It is learned that a number of the mob are known and indictments will follow at the next term of the Gibson county court.

WRITES A LETTER TO YALE COL-LEGE CORPORATION.

Does Not Hold the Anti-Southern Sen timents of Dr. Twitchell-Says Honor the Heroes.

New Haven, Conn., June 23.-Coming losely upon the anti-southern statement by Rev. Dr. Twitchell, of the Yale corporation, ex-Governor D. H. Chamberlain, of South Carolina, sends the following to the Yale corporation, which was read at the meeting today. It will be discussed at the alumni dinner tomorrow. The letter reads as follows:

"New York, June 18.-To the Treasurer of Yale University. Dear Sir: Having recently received a certain honorarium for iterary service which I feel I can use as may choose, without injustice to my family or myself, I wish to give the greater part of it to the authorities of Yale univer for a specific purpose. It is now more than thirty-one years since our great civil war was ended. Time enough has passed to compose in great degree, I think, almost bitter strifes of opinion and the inflamed feelings which such a strug-gle must give rise to. Each side is now engaged in the work of honoring the m ories of those who were conspicuous by services or their deaths in the contests. It is altogether right that it should be so. Heroism, self-sacrifice, devotion t ublic interests were highly illustrated on parlson with other results that the two sections should ever think alike about the nerits of the question there involved. The thing of most moment is that the great examples which both sides gave should ot be forgotten. Impressed with these thoughts, I have been grieved to see that no movement has been begun to set Yale a suitable memorial of those of her students and graduates who took part in, and especially of those who lost their liv In the civil war, and I long ago resolved that if I could ever do it I would in some way do what I conceived to be my duty in this regard. I now therefore tender to you the sum of $200, herewith inclosed, to-ward the erection at Yale of such permanent visible and specific memorial in the iniversity that the authorities may con "Of the form or character of the me morial I have nothing now to say or sug gest. MAIL POUCHES STOLEN.

They Contained Over a Thousand Letters, Some of Them Valuable. Columbus, Ga., June 23.—(Special.)—At McDonough, the terminus of the Georgia Midland railway, near Griffin, three mail sacks, containing in all at least a thousand letters, were stolen from the station by some bold thieves Sunday night and robbed of their contents, which consisted almost entirely of letters. The pouches were after wards discovered in a pine thicket, about four hundred yards away from the depot. No clew to the bold thieves has been disered and it is the supposition that they were tramps. The Georgia Midland touches the East Tennessee road there and this is a great tramp railway. The three pouches had been placed in the station for the night. One was from the East Tennesse gia Midland evening train, brought up from Columbus to be distributed along the route of the road the next morning. The teleanh operator at McDonough stays at th little depot all night and it is his custom not to lock the outside door at night. It is said he has been warned against this as being careless, but doubtless anticipated no such bold theft. Sunday night some bold and slipping in quietly stole the three pouches. They chose leather pouches in-stead of canvas bags, knowing the they ran more chance of getting something of value in the former. On the 10th of March ast a lot of letters sent out from Columbus became lost in some mysterious manner and it is thought that they disappeared the same way as the above.

COLLIER'S CHARGE; BIGBY'S REPLY

Warm Words Between the Members of the Eagle and Phenix.

SIZZING ACCUSATIONS SENT

Mr. Collier Stamps a Statement "Absolutely False."

YOU'RE ANOTHER," SAYS JUDGE BIGBY

Declares That It Was Mr. Collier Who Was in the Wrong-How the Matter Stands. Mr. Charles A. Collier yesterday made statement in which he denied very emphatically that Judge Bigby was free from esponsibility in not calling the directors

neeting of the Eagle & Phenix Company in Columbus last Saturday. It will be remembered that Judge Bigby stated a few days ago, in answer to the charge that he had not called the meeting, though urged to do so by three mem bers of the board of directors, that he had authorized Mr. Collier to call the meeting in his stead. Mr. Collier yesterday pronounced this statement of Judge Bigby as "absolutely false." He said that Judge Bigby prom ised to call the meeting and failed to do so, knowing full well that no one but the president had any right to call the meeting In reference to the much discussed raise in salary from $5,000 to $20,000, Mr. Collies characterized Judge Bigby's explanation of how the affair occurred as an "idlotic attempt to conceal the real facts.'

Mr. Collier insisted that Judge Bigby had secured proxies from members of his family for a majority of the stock and had elected a board of directors composed of his kinspeople in spite of the protests of Collier and other stockholders. This board of directors included Judge Bigby, Mrs. E. K. Righy, his wife: Mrs. L. M Gordon, his sister-in-law; McAllen Marsh, his son-in-law, and C. C. Parrott, his son-in-law.

Speaking about this matter, Mr. Collier "After accomplishing this he notified Mr. Graves and myself that he would not hold a meeting of the directors for organthat purpose some time during the next We then returned to Atlanta and the wily judge immediately summoned the members of his family whom he had elected directors and without notice to Mr Graves and myself, held a meeting of the board on the second day after the stock-holders' meeting, at which were present, n addition to the members of his family as above, only Dr. Warnock and Mr. Be thune, brother-in-law of Dr. Warnock.

"At this meeting Judge Bigby was elected president and Dr. Warnock vice president, and on motion of Mr. Marsh, law of Judge Bigby, the salary of the president was fixed at $20,000 per annum and of the vice president at $2,500 per an When it is understood that prio never paid a salary, his duties being merey nominal, the motive which prompted this liberality on the part of the Bigby contingent can be appreciated, and throws a little light upon the recent failure to secure a quorum of directors. On the next day after the meeting above referred to, the judge held another meeting of his board, still without notifying Mr. Graves and myself, at which the minutes of the preceding meeting were confirmed and some minor matters of mere detail were transacted. "At the next meeting, therefore, only the minutes of this immaterial meeting was read and thus the fact of this enormous the vice president's salary was concealed from the other members of the board, who have only recently learned the "I have thus merely outlined the facts in reference to matters touched on by Judge Bigby in his so-called 'statement.' There are other and far graver matters in connection with the judge's manage-

nent of the mills, which the court will deal with at the proper time, and which it is not proper for me to discuss at this

Judge Bigby's Warm Reply. When seen last night in reference to the card of Mr. Collier Judge Bigby said: "Referring to the interview of Mr. Colder which appeared yesterday, I feel that t calls for a reply. He does not deny that although a director and his duty to the trust required him to attend the meetings of the directory and aid in the conduct of the affairs of the company he persistently refused. His presence could not be had for several years, nor does he deny that I tendered him the presidency of the com-pany with a board of directors of his own election, and he said he would not accep it at any price.

"In reference to the call for the meeting of the board of directors, I have to say that in the presence of Mr. M. B. Marsh and Mr. Charles C. Parrott I authorized him to notify the board of directors to attend a meeting on Saturday at noon in Colum-bus. He replied all right and left. On the next day he and Mr. Graves issued a call and it was sent to me, my wife and Mr. Marsh, and doubtless to Dr. Womack and Mr. Bethune. He knows that this is true and when he says to the contrary he falsifles the truth. The insinuation that I well knew why the directors did not attend the meeting is absolutely false. He is in error when he says that I notified him after the election of the board of directors at the annual stockholders' meeting that I would not hold a meeting of the directors for organization at once, for I did not see him after the adjournment. I understood that he had lost a relative somewhere, and that he in company with Mr. Sam Parrott left for Atlanta on a special train. "So far as my salary is concerned I have no apologies to make or errors to admit. in having accepted the raising of my salary to $20,000. The arduous character of my luties, the immense personal responsibili ties assumed, the monopolizing of my en-tire time and attention, I am quite satisfled would be regarded by fair-minded bus ness men as fully entitling me to that amount of remuneration. I would like to say further in this connection, that I neve received this amount of salary. In regard to those relatives of mine who were elected on the board of directors I also have no apologies to make. Their large holdings of stock entitled them to such positions, and I have yet to learn that the fact of stockholders being related to an officer of a corporation debars them the privilege of being on the board of directors. As to the salary of Dr. Womack I felt then and do now that he deserved it. He had been invaluable to me in aiding me to raise funds to run the mills when no other directors would. He not only lent his name but used his collaterals in an effort to sustain the mills and keep them running, and I cannot now remember that he was ever absent from any meeting of the directors. "From my first connection with the mills to the present time, I employed my best ef-forts and judgment to promote their inter-est. I am sure no one else would have made zeal and activity in behalf of the mills his animadversions upon my management of the mills would come with better grace "Understanding that Mr. Collier desires the receivership himself. I am not at all surprised at his attitude toward me."

"Had Mr. Collier manifested the sam

THE ALABAMA PROPERTY.

It Is Placed in the Hands of the Eagle and Phenix Receivers.

Columbus, Ga., June 23.-(Special.)-All of the property of the Eagle & Phenix Manufactory Company, of this city, is now in the hands of receivers. This morning Messrs, G. Gunby Jordan, J. W. English and L. S. Bigby, the receivers of the property of the company in Georgia, were officially notified that they had also been appointed receivers of its belongings in the state of Alabama, also acting under this advice Mr. Jordan, in behalf of the receivers, formally took possession today of the property of the company across the river. The company owns quite a lot of Alabama property. Besides the Chattahoochee knitting mill, situated just across the river in Girard, it owns a large number of small enement houses. The appointment of receivers was made by the federal court at Montgomery, pursuant to the filing of an auxiliary bill, filed. it is supposed, here by Messrs. Ellis & Gray, the original complainants, in bevas made several days ago. The filing of this auxiliary petition was, of course, exnected, being somewhat of a formality—was nerely to cover the property fully in Alabama as well as Georgia. It is the supposition that these two thousand bales of cotton cliamed by the National Bank of the Republic, if the claim is perfectly correct. have been used in the operation of the nills as raw material

The claim made by the bank is that it loaned the mills $40,000 on two thousand bales of cotton then in the company's warehouse unused as a security for the ney. A representative of the ted the receivers, as already told, they cannot find the two thousand bales and the supposition is that it was not pre-served, but was used as material in the operation of the mills. The representative of the bank, Mr. Pullen, the vice presi dent, did not intimate to the receivers what course his institution would pursue in the matter. Several other persons have been engaged in trying to trace up cotton once held at the mills and disappearing under similar circumstances, doubtless sed in the factories' course, not so large as in the New York bank's case. claims of persons who left cotton at the company's warehouse with the agreement to call and get the purchase money at any subsequent time convenient, thus get ting the benefit of the storage, will be regarded in the same light as other creditors' claims, and the receivers cannot now settle them, likewise the claims of whol salers who purchased goods from the facmay not yet have taken all The remainder of these goods cannot b touched.

MRS. NOBLES WILL NOT HANG

Her Case Goes to the Supreme Court Again-Gus Fambles Will Pay the Penalty.

Jeffersonville, Ga., June 23 .- (Special.)-Mrs. Elizabeth Nobles and Gus Fambles were resentenced by Judge C. C. Smith to hang on the 7th of August. The judge directed that Mrs. Nobles be hanged first. Colonel Marion Harris made an unusual motion in Mrs. Nobles's behalf. He contended that the ordinary's and sheriff's courts for trying cases of lunacy had no power to compel the attendance of wit-nesses; that the defendant was deprived of the privilege of striking the jury, and stitutional and, therefore, the convict was deprived of her constitutional and legal rights. He asked that the superior court try her for h > y and that sentence be sus-pended until this could be done. The judge overruled the petition and resentenced the efendants as above stated. hen moved the execution of sentence be stopped for the same reason, which was overruled, and exceptions filed.

HIS ASSAILANT UNKNOWN

Benson Was Robbed of Everything of Value He Had on His Person.

HIS INJURIES NOT REGARDED AS SERIOUS

He Is the Son of Berry Benson, the Author, and Is One of Augusta's Popular Citizens.

Augusta, Ga., June 23.-(Special.)-A outrageous case of highway robbery came to light this morning. Charley Benson, a son of Mr. Berry Benson, the writer, was out for a spin last night. At about 12 o'clock he was on the Milledgeville road not far from Wheeler's crossing and riding sione without a thought of danger, when suddenly there was a flash before his eyes and he knew nothing more until 4 o'clock this morning. Then he found that he had been robbed of everything valuable, including his bicycle. Young Benson is a collector for the Bradley Fertilizer Company and had $58 of the company's money n his pocket at the time. This was gone, as were also his keys.

When seen this morning Mr. Benson's forehead looked as if he had received a powerful blow. There is a big lump and around it the flesh is discolored, but the skin is not broken. The young fellow made about the following statement of the affair: Benson's Statement.

The letter reads "New York, June 18 .- To the Treasure of Yale University. Dear Sir: Having re ently received a certain honorarium fo Iterary service which I feel I can use as or myself, I wish to give the greater par of it to the authorities of Yale universit for a specific purpose. It is now more than thirty-one years since our great civil war was ended. Time enough has passed to compose in great degree, I think, almost entirely, the bitter strifes of opinion and the inflamed feelings which such a struggle must give rise to. Each side is no engaged in the work of honoring the mem ories of those who were conspicuous by their services or their deaths in the contests. It is altogether right that it sho be so. Heroism, self-sacrifice, devotion to public interests were highly illustrated on both sides. It is not important in com parlson with other results that the two ctions should ever think alike about the nerits of the question there involved. The thing of most moment is that the great examples which both sides gave should not be forgotten. Impressed with these thoughts, I have been grieved to see that Impressed with these no movement has been begun to set at Yale a suitable memorial of those of her students and graduates who took part in, and especially of those who lost their lives in the civil war, and I long ago resolved way do what I conceived to be my duty in this regard. I now therefore tender to you sum of $200, herewith inclosed, toward the erection at Yale of such perma nent visible and specific memorial in the university that the authorities may conider appropriate to the end I have stated. "Of the form or character of the megest. Of course I hope my small contribution may be the beginning of a fund large enough to do what Harvard, Bowdoin and nany other universities and colleges, with a far smaller roll of graduates and friends than Yale, have already done. Permit me to add that I have given the rest of the

If within the next two years no such further sums be contributed for the pur-pose here named as will enable the auhorities of Yale to erect a suitable memorial then I give the amount hereby tendered the university absolutely to be used at its pleasure. Very respectfully,

"D. H. CHAMBERLAIN. "P. S.-I take the liberty to inclose herewith a copy of my letter accompanying my gift to the orphan home."

COLLIER'S CHARGE BIGBY'S REPLY

Warm Words Between the Members of the Eagle and Phenix.

SIZZING ACCUSATIONS SENT Mr. Collier Stamps a Statement "Ab-

'YOU'RE ANOTHER." SAYS JUDGE BIGBY

solutely False."

Declares That It Was Mr. Collier Who Was in the Wrong-How the Matter Stands. Mr. Charles A. Collier yesterday made statement in which he denied very emphatically that Judge Bigby was free from esponsibility in not calling the directors' neeting of the Eagle & Phenix Company It will be remembered that Judge Bigby stated a few days ago, in answer to th charge that he had not called the meeting, though urged to do so by three members of the board of directors, that he had authorized Mr. Collier to call the meeting in his stead. Mr. Collier yesterday pronounced this statement of Judge Bigby as "absolutely false." He said that Judge Bigby promised to call the meeting and failed to do so, knowing full well that no one but the president had any right to call the meeting. In reference to the much discussed raise salary from $5,000 to $20,000, Mr. Collier characterized Judge Bigby's explanation of how the affair occurred as an "idiotic attempt to conceal the real facts." Mr. Collier insisted that Judge Bigby had secured proxies from members of his family for a majority of the stock and had elected a board of directors composed of his kinspeople in spite of the protests of Collier and other stockholders. This board of directors included Judge Bigby Mrs. E. K. Bigby, his wife; Mrs. L. M Gordon, his sister-in-law; McAllen Marsh his son-in-law, and C. C. Parrott, his son-in-law. Speaking about this matter, Mr. Collies

"After accomplishing this he notified Mr. Graves and myself that he would not custom, but would call us together fo that purpose some time during the next We then returned to Atlanta and the wily judge immediately summoned the members of his family whom he had elected directors and without notice to Mr Graves and myself, held a meeting of the board on the second day after the stockolders' meeting, at which were present n addition to the members of his family as above, only Dr. Warnock and Mr. Be-thune, brother-in-law of Dr. Warnock. "At this meeting Judge Bigby was elected president and Dr. Warnock vice presi dent, and on motion of Mr. Marsh, son-in-law of Judge Bigby, the salary of the president was fixed at $20,000 per annum and of the vice president at $2,500 per annum. When it is understood that prior to this meeting the vice president was never paid a salary, his duties being mere-ly nominal, the motive which prompted this liberality on the part of the Bigby contingent can be appreciated, and throws a little light upon the recent failure to secure a quorum of directors. On the next day after the meeting above referred to, the judge held another meeting of his board, still without notifying Mr. Grave preceding meeting were confirmed and some minor matters of mere detail were ransacted. "At the next meeting, therefore, only the minutes of this immaterial meeting was read and thus the fact of this enormous increase in the president's salary and the creation of the vice president's salary was oncealed from the other members of the oard, who have only recently learned the

"I have thus merely outlined the facts in reference to matters touched on by Judge Bigby in his so-called 'statement.' There are other and far graver matters in connection with the judge's manage ent of the mills, which the court will leal with at the proper time, and which it s not proper for me to discuss at this

Judge Bigby's Warm Reply.

When seen last night in reference to the card of Mr. Collier Judge Bigby said: "Referring to the interview of Mr. Col ller which appeared yesterday, I feel that it calls for a reply. He does not deny that although a director and his duty to the rust required him to attend the mee f the directory and aid in the conduct of the affairs of the company he persistently refused. His presence could not be had for several years, nor does he deny that I tendered him the presidency of the company with a board of directors of his own it at any price.

"In reference to the call for the meeting of the board of directors, I have to say that in the presence of Mr. M. B. Marsh and Mr. Charles C. Parrott I authorized him to notify the board of directors to attend a meeting on Saturday at noon in Columbus. He replied all right and left. On the next day he and Mr. Graves issued a call and it was sent to me, my wife and Mr. Marsh, and doubtless to Dr. Womack and Mr. Bethune. He knows that this is true and when he says to the contrary he falsi fles the truth. The insinuation that I well knew why the directors did not attend the neeting is absolutely false. He is in error when he says that I notified him after the election of the board of directors at the annual stockholders' meeting that I would not hold a meeting of the directors for or-ganization at once, for I did not see him after the adjournment. I understo he had lost a relative somewhere, and that in company with Mr. Sam Parrott lef for Atlanta on a special train.

"So far as my salary is concerned I have no apologies to make or errors to admit. in having accepted the raising of my salary to $20,000. The arduous character of my luties, the immense personal responsibil ties assumed, the monopolizing of my entire time and attention, I am quite satis fled would be regarded by fair-minded busi ness men as fully entitling me to that amount of remuneration. I would like to say further in this connection, that I never received this amount of salary. In regard to those relatives of mine who were elected n the board of directors I also have no of stock entitled them to such I and I have yet to learn that the fact of stockholders being related to an officer of a corporation debars them the privilege of being on the board of directors. As to the salary of Dr. Womack I felt then and do now that he deserved it. He had been invaluable to me in adding me to raise funds to run the mills when no other directors would. He not only lent his name but used his collaterals in an effort to sustain the mills and keep them running, and I cannot now remember that he was ever absent from any meeting of the directors.

forts and judgment to promote their interest. I am sure no one else would have made "Had Mr. Collier manifested the sam zeal and activity in behalf of the mills which he now displays in malicious attacks, misrepresentations and base insinuations, his animadversions upon my management of the mills would come with better grace.

"Understanding that Mr. Collier desires the receivership himself. I am not at all Mrs. Nobles and Gus Fambles Resentenced surprised at his attitude toward me."

THE ALABAMA PROPERTY.

of the property of the Eagle & Phenix Manufactory Company, of this city, is now in the hands of receivers. This morning Messrs. G. Gunby Jordan, J. W. English and L. S. Bigby, the receivers of the prop erty of the company in Georgia, were officially notified that they had also been appointed receivers of its belongings in the state of Alabama, also acting under this advice Mr. Jordan, in behalf of the receiv ers, formally took possession today of the property of the company across the river. The company owns quite a lot of Alaama property. Besides the Chattahoochee knitting mill, situated just across the river in Girard, it owns a large number of small

The appointment of receivers was made by the federal court at Montgomery, puruant to the filing of an auxiliary bill, filed, it is supposed, here by Messrs, Ellis & Gray, the original complainants, in be-half of the Savings bank depositors, they nair of the Savings bank depositors, they represent. It is probable that the filing was made several days ago. The filing of this auxiliary petition was, of course, pected, being somewhat of a formality nerely to cover the property fully in Ala bama as well as Georgia. It is the sup-position that these two thousand bales of cotton cliamed by the National Bank of the Republic, if the claim is perfectly correct, have been used in the operation of the nills as raw material.

The claim made by the bank is that is loaned the mills $40,000 on two thousand bales of cotton then in the company's warehouse unused as a security for the money. A representative of the bank visited the receivers, as already told, but they cannot find the two thousand bales and the supposition is that it was not preserved, but was used as material in the operation of the mills. The representative of the bank, Mr. Pullen, the vice presi-dent, did not intimate to the receivers what course his institution would pursue in the matter. Several other persons have been engaged in trying to trace up cotton der similar circumstances, doubtless being used in the factories' course, not so large as in the New York bank's case. The claims of persons who left cotton at the company's warehouse with the agreement to call and get the purchase money at any subsequent time convenient, thus get-ting the benefit of the storage, will be regarded in the same light as other creditors' claims, and the receivers cannot not settle them, likewise the claims of whole salers who purchased goods from the facory and who may not yet have taken all the goods from the company's warehouse. The remainder of these goods cannot be

Jeffersonville, Ga., June 23.-(Special.)-Mrs. Elizabeth Nobles and Gus Fambles were resentenced by Judge C. C. Smith to hang on the 7th of August. The judge directed that Mrs. Nobles be hanged first. Colonel Marion Harris made an unusual motion in Mrs. Nobles's behalf. He contended that the ordinary's and sheriff's courts for trying cases of lunacy had no power to compel the attendance of witnesses; that the defendant was deprived of the privilege of striking the jury, and that being a convict such court was uncon-stitutional and, therefore, the convict was deprived of her constitutional ar rights. A Chicago Saloon Keeper Kills a Daring, Desperate Thief. Chicago, June 23.—Birdie Maroney, a well-known thief, was instantly killed last night while trying to hold up a saloon at the corner of Clark and Taylor strees, and his partner, James Bartley, was seriously

The two men went into John Clark's saloon yesterday and robbed the bartender of his jewelry. The cash drawer was empty, however, and they left, threatening to return. Clark secured two revolvers and secreted himself. When the men returned last night and attacked the bartender. Clarke opened fire with the result stated above.

ATLANTA, GA., June 24, 1896.

The Constitution Will Be There. Tomorrow morning when the city of Macon will awake to find the demo cracy of Georgia within her gates The Constitution will be on hand to tell the

At 4 o'clock on Thursday morning a special train, chartered by The Constitution, will leave the city of Atlanta via the Southern railway, bearing to Macon the special convention edition of the paper. A full corps of efficient newsboys, under the trained leadership of the superintendent of carriers, will accompany the train to see that the work of circulation is well done.

This enterprise is but a step in the work which The Constitution has assumed to do for Georgia. The duty of a great newspaper and its constituents is reciprocal.

No matter where the interest of Georgia may be at stake; no matter in what city her representatives may gather. The Constitution will be found present to do its duty, conscious that it belongs to the people at large and to no locality.

In accordance with these views, arrangements have been made to run a special Constitution train to Macon on Thursday morning, bearing its special convention edition, which will be a perfect forecast of the situation

In entering the city of Macon at day light The Constitution will feel that it is at home among its friends. That gallant city has furnished a free coinage senator to the United States senate, a free coinage representative to congress and a free coinage delegation to the state convention. More than this she could not do, and Georgia feels proud of her Central City.

Colorado Honors Her Senator.

On returning to his home in Colorado, Senator Henry M. Teller will receive cordial welcome from the people of that state who admire the brave and independent stand which he recently took in the St. Louis convention.

In refusing to surrender his convictions on the money question, even though a majority of his party advocated the single gold standard, Senator Teller has given expression to the highest type of American manhood; and, while his gallant behavior has endeared him to the friends of bimetallism all over this country, he is not without a host of admirers even among those from whom he has separated.

Men instinctively admire heroism. Even those who have never performed a courageous deed themselves and who are wholly incapable of making anything like a sacrifice for principle, are obliged to respect the man who is willing to suffer, if need be, for the sake of his convictions and who had rather perish with them at the stake than sacrifice them for the purpose of securing a cov eted ambition.

No one who listened to or who has read the speech of the senator from Colorado, on the floor of the republican convention last week, and who understood the motives which actuated him in taking leave of his associates, could possibly doubt that he was the hero of hat occasion. It required no small unt of courage to speak the words which would separate him from the party with which he had been identified since the time of its organization and which had "showered its honors thick upon him." Still he was ready to the action of Senator Cannon and his make the sacrifice, and he made it like a Roman. Other speeches were made the floor of the convention, but they failed to stir the vast audience because they proceeded merely from the lips. Teller spoke as only a man can speak when he is moved by some, powerful emotion. There was no effort to capture the convention; no desire other than to make a candid statement of his position. And yet the speech was a master piece of its kind. There was not a man In the convention who did not feel its power and who did not secretly respect the man who could rise to the possibility of such an effort.

After the leaving the convention the in keeping with the manly and noble temper of his speech. Instead of returnme or seeking out the companionship of his late associates, he boarded the train and paid a visit to his aged mother. Having taken a bold stand for the principles which he professed and which he refused to surrender even at the bidding of his party, it was a gracious tribute to the woman who had taught him in childhood to be resolute that he should seek her out in preference to all others and lay at her feet the trophy which his courage achieved.

Senator Teller will probably return home about the 1st of July. The people of Denver are preparing for a magnif icent demonstration in his honor which will take place on the anniversary of the declaration of independence.

Such a tribute from the people who have trusted him through all these years is richly deserved.

Major Stahlman's Mistake.

While the retirement of Major E. B. Stahlman from the democratic party has not left any large vacuum in the organization or created anything like a whirlwind of excitement, it is to be regretted, nevertheless, that so clever a gentleman should, at this late day, transfer his political allegiance to an organization that is so thoroughly discredited before the people. It is particularly to be regretted by his friends that he should have cast his lot with this discredited party at a moment when it has written its own death warrant by elling out, lock, stock and barrel, to a syndicate of bankers and bondholders

on the money question. Never before in the history of this ountry have the managers of a great party had the hardihood to sell out to a noney combine and to declare for bond issues, currency contraction and a chronic state of panic. Never before has a party in this country been rotten enough to telegraph its financial declaration to the head of a gold syndicate for his approval. We do not know what price has been paid the republican leaders for the gold standard declaration, but we are certain that the bill of sale will not include the honest voters of that party who will repudiate the trans

We are particularly sorry to see southern man of any standing announcing his purpose to vote with this dis credited party at this time. He cannot find a comfortable seat in that organization, and he cannot remain in it without great loss of self-respect. We are merely stating a fact when we say that the republican party in the south is now and will continue to be dominated by the negroes. This is inevitable. It is also natural and right The negro republicans in this section outnumber the white republicans in the ratio of a thousand to one, and it is not only natural but right and proper that they should dominate the organization in the south.

A white man who does not make i plain at the outset that he has a stomach strong enough to admire negro domination in politics has no show whatever in the general ruck and riot. We have re cently referred to the case of Major Hanson, of Macon. He is an able man and was at one time a leading democrat, but for reasons satisfactory to himself he left the party and went across

Recently Major Hanson was candidate for delegate at-large to St. Louis. He was turned down. Then he was proposed as national committeeman, and a negro appointed to the place. This was both natural and right, for there is no real republican party in Georgia. It is a negro party, and the negroes them selves are entitled to all the honors and plums that belong to their organization.

Major Hanson made a mistake when he went into this party, and Major Stahlman is likewise making a mistake The democratic party never has been a free trade party and never will be. It has always had enough protection in its platforms and policies to satisfy these who are not greedy, and to assure reasonable prosperity to industries. But at this time, if all the tariffs the country ever had were added together and put into law, the industrial situation would not be helped at all. The reason why accumulated stocks are on the hands of southern manufacturers is because people have no money to buy. De mand depends on the ability to buy, the ability to buy depends on fair prices and fair prices depend on the quantity of money in circulation.

We advise Major Hanson and Major Stahlman to get out of the republican party in the south and let the negroes have it to themselves.

Impoverished by the Gold Standard. The little state of Utah has only 250. 000 inhabitants, while the mortgage indebtedness of the people is $8,000,000. A better argument against the inequalities of the single gold standard cannot possibly be found than the one presented in the suffering and demoralized condition of the people of Utah. Is it strange, then, in view of what these people have suffered during the last few years on account of the iniquitous gold standard, that hundreds should quit the party which not only refuses to give them relief but which is pledged, in the platform adopted at St. Louis, to increase the burdens under which they already groan. Self-respect, if nothing else, should impel them to select the course which they have taken; and every other republi can in the state should do likewise

On looking more closely into the hardships of the people of Utah, since the admission of that state into the union, colleagues in withdrawing from the St. Louis convention ceases to be amazing. Though some other course might have been preferred to the one which made it necessary for them to quit the organization to which they had become attached, the withdrawal of Senator Cannon from the ranks of the republican party was the only path of safety which he could tread. In justice to the people whom he represented and who for years had been the victims of a most discriminating and

Though Utah has been ill-treated by the republican party, there is still hope for the people of this little western commonwealth. The democratic convention which meets in Chicago next month, will declare for the free coinage of both gold and silver at the time-honored ratio of 16 to 1. In the success of the ticket which that convention will nominate lies the salvation of Utah and of every ther state in the American union. Under the banner of democracy ther

Our Wealth.

Some time ago Professor Meelhall, the great English statistician, published a table in which he undertook to estimate the wealth of the leading civilized nations of the world.

Though not perhaps exact, the table s nevertheless interesting as it shows been in a comparative sense at least what these various nations have acquired. The wealth of the fifteen leading countries of the world is computed as follows: United States..... $64,120,000,000 Austria....

According to this table, the wealth of this country is considerably in excess of that of Great Britain, the difference be ing somewhere in the neighborhood of $17,000,000.

While this statement is gratifying from one point of view it is likewise ap palling from another. It is gratifying to our national pride to know that America heads the column of rich and powerful nations. At the same time, it is most appalling to know that all this wealth is n the hands of a favored few.

The trouble with our currency system is not that it prevents the accumulation of great national wealth, but that it places this enormous wealth in the hands of a favored minority. The masses of the people have been growing poorer and poorer; while the ich and powerful gold syndicates have steadily waxed stronger and stronger. This being true, there is a need of some radical change in our monetary system.

The Money Power's Predictions and Promises.

If the voluminous and multitudinous lies that emanate from the headquarters of the money power in New York could be compiled and issued in book form, it would require a mogul locomotive to haul the volume from publishing house to postoffice.

These lies usually take the form of predictions, but they are not limited to any particular shape. They are circulated by the gold standard editors and by the cuckoos that have had their feathers torn out by the recent cyclones at the ballot box. They are to be found in the press telegrams, in the market reports, in the trade agencies and in every channel through which they are most likely to reach the people. They are to be found even in the advertisements, by means of which the Wall street schemers hope to secure a fresh supply of "lambs.

It might be presumed that after these angly exposed by the course of events the editorial writers and market reporters of the money power would try some other method. But they have a theory that all the people are fools all the time, and nothing, and so they go on with their unvarying and monotonous lying.

Our readers can hardly fail to remem ber the frantic way in which the Wall street operators and other gold agencies promised the people better prices, better business and better times if congress would only repeal the purchasing clause of the Sherman act. To bring about this repeal the political agents of the money power in Washington-the president and his cabinet, the eastern democrats and the great body of republicans in congress, resorted to and indorsed the most infamous methods of political and official dragooning the country has ever witnessed.

Finally they carried their point: the purchasing clause of the Sherman act was repealed, and then what happened? Out went the gold reserve, and down went prices! Times grew harder, hundreds of industries were driven out of business, thousands of workingmen and women were left stranded without work, and a deeper depression fell on business. Then, in order to satisfy the greed of the international bankers acting under he orders of the Rothschilds, Mr. Cleveland decided to issue bonds with which o buy gold. Preparatory to that, Carlisle was put forward to write a letter to Senator Voorhees, suggesting that congress authorize a bond issue. To bolster up Cleveland's purpose the various, political and commercial agents of the money power declared that a bond issue would settle the whole matter, restore confidence" and make better times

Before congress could act, even if it had been favorable to the Rothschild programme. Mr. Cleveland entered into dark-lantern deal with a gold syndicate. The bonds were issued and what was the result?

Down went prices, more business houses and factories put up their shutters and the gold reserve began to dwindle away.

That has been the upshot of every suc essful attempt on the part of the money power to carry out its programme. Careful readers of the newspapers have come to understand that whenever the American agents of the Rothschilds-and their name is legion-present a scheme for the purpose of "restoring confidence," it is a scheme for robbing the people.

Every step that has been taken thus far is a part of the scheme of the Rothschilds and their coparceners to rob the people of the United States.

The unconditional repeal of the Sherman act was for the purpose of cutting irse which Senator Teller pursued was admired. In the opinion of all who supply. The issue of bonds has been for the sole purpose of mortgaging the substance of the people to the foreign bankers and their American touters.

We are reminded of these infamous transactions and the deluge of deceit that accompanied them by the attitude of the Wall street agencies of the money power toward the republican convention while that body was in session at St. Louis. We reprinted on our market page, yesterday, some of the delectable tuff that was sent over the wires to influence delegates; but that was not the half of it. Every concern in Wall street, from the biggest wrecker to the most impecunious operator, flooded the country with circulars declaring that a declaration for the gold standard would be a great help to prices and general business.

Only the echoes of this stuff found their way into the market reports, but our readers can judge from the matter we reprinted yesterday what the character of the whole mess must have

The upshot of it is this: that whenever the money power wants to carry a point the Wall street bucketshops, big and little, begin to promise better times. When the point is carried, times get worse than ever.

As soon as the St. Louis convention declared for the gold standard there was a slump in prices and business. There will be and can be no improvement in business until the country clearly understands that the democratic party intends to abolish the blight of the gold standard. Wall street predicts a panic, should the Chicago convention declare for the free coinage of silver. The Constitution predicts increased prices and better business as the result of that event.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat ob serves that both McKinley and Hobart were born in the year when Henry Clay made his last race for the presidency. In pointing out this coincidence The Globe-Democrat overlooks the fact that Henry Clay was defeated in that campaign.

The republican money plank was enirely satisfactory to the able head of the Rothschild gold syndicate.

McKinley evidently regards the republican nomination this year as a dog does an extra bone. Only he doesn't know in what part of the garden to bury it.

Will the Cleveland cabinet go to Chicago in a special car? It will be a beautiful sight to see so much statesmanship under one tent, as it were.

Mr. Whitney puts down two gold delegates from Georgia. Does he propose to elect or appoint them?

Mr. Cleveland has not declared right out that he will not accept a third term nomination. The northeastern crowd still have an opportunity to choose him for their very own.

There isn't a silver country in the world where business is not prosper ing.

If Mexico can prosper on a silver pasis, what could the people of the United States not do with the free coinage of both gold and silver?

The effort to do with money what Cleveland has failed to do with all his official influence and patronage is doomed to defeat. Mr. Whitney admits that

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

Here is a thrilling adventure which western pioneer experienced some time ago among the wild rocks of Montana. He was raveling on a narrow trail above the alls of the raging Grande Rhone river when he came to a landslide about twenty feet across, which left no trail on the precipitous rock. He was trapped. The trail was so narrow that the horse could not possibly turn back. Above the break in the trail was a sharp crag . On his saddle bow was a strong rope sixty feet long, in the use of which as a lasso he was quite an expert. He stead ied himself upon the saddle, swung the rope over his head and hurled it high in the air. It was settled firmly over erag. He tried it carefully. It was firm. saddle was a new and strong one, with double cinches. Around the horn wound the rope. He urged the horse on to the edge of the precipice.

The faithful beast stood firm. He would not step over, but the rider drew up th slack and pulled with all his power. Inch by inch he drew the straining horse for ward, till his feet slipped and he swung over the chasm. The rider held his breath as he looked at the river below and the slender rope above, but he was across the gap. He sprung up the trail and tugge the reins to help the horse in gainifeet. He pulled, and the horse lung up into the trail with the chasm bac behind. He rode away and left the rope dangling for the use of the next wayfarer who chanced to come that way.

Quite a strange scene was witnessed Portsmouth, O., a few days ago. A man by the name of Lorenzo Dow McKinney, who celebrated his eightieth birthday last week and who labors under the impression that he has departed this life, had his neral preached at Fallen Timber church Portsmouth, on the anniversary birth. Mr. McKinney, with his coffin, was present and listened intently to his eulogy by Rev. Forrest Evans. The coffin occupied a prominent place in front of the pulpit and near by sat Mr. McKinney, the supposed corpse. The crowd was a curious one, and came for miles around. The Sun Fish and Poe Creek women were barehead ed and all the children shoeless.

Mr. McKinney is not a crank. He appears to be good for twenty years yet. He has read the Bible for seventy years and claims the passage about man's al lotted time being fourscore means that af-ter one reaches the age of eighty he dies in the eyes of his Creator, and no more no-tice is taken of him. Mr. McKinney is a liberal Christian, and is opposed to all Sunday and sumtuary laws. His grandmother was a niece of Tom Payne, wants to be cremated when he dies, has already paid all funeral expenses. body will be burned in the Cincinnati cre matory. There will be no services after death, today's ceremony making that un-necessary. Since it became known that Mr. McKinney's funeral services would be held today, he has received severa of letters upon the subject.

When Valdosta Was Named. During Governor Troup's second admin stration he received as a guest La Favette His was a life of political turmoil, but his days of rest were spent on his farm in Laurens county, Ga., some eight miles from Dublin. He had a large farm on Turkey creek, on which was a decent house, bu he preferred living on his river farm, and to his home he gave the appellation of Vale d'Osta, contracted into Valdosta. His home at Turkey creek was in such a forest that he called it Vallambrosa, His Valdosta home was built of pine logs. The situation was commanding, sloping gently to the river. On one occasion Mirabeau Lamar was visiting Governor Troup in his Valdosta home, and on this visit Troup suggested to Lamar to go to Texas and capture Santa Anna, and the intrepld young Georgian acted on his advice.

Valdosta, the capital of Lowndes county, took its name from Governor Troup's river home in Laurens county. Governor Troup was fond, in his leisure hours, of hunting, and especially fishing, and it is said for that reason he preferred the Valdosta home. with its long extended log houses, to the Vallambrosa home amid the dense shades of the forest.

state of Georgia will bring suit against two banks of Quitman for the recovery of about $2,300, the amount of the shortage of M. F. Jones, formerly tax collector of Brooks county. Jones was removed from office by Governor Atkin-son several months ago and an effort will now be made to recover the amount from the banks.

Jones deposited the county's money in the Bank of Quitman, and the Farmers' and Merchants' bank of the same place. It is claimed that he paid his persona notse at those banks, giving checks on the county's accounts with the knowledge of the banks officials. Jones's bondsmen hold that the banks are responsible for the loss to the state as they took the state's money in payment of the personal obligations of the tax collector.

The Fidelity and Deposit Company, of Maryland, is Jones's bondsmen. The company will make good the loss to the state regardless of the litigation, but it claims that the banks are liable for the shortage. Yesterday Mr. W. R. Hammond addressed a letter to Attorney General Terrell ask. a letter to Attorney General Terrell ask ing that he allowed to proceed against the banks in the name of the state, and Several months ago it was discovered that the accounts of Tax Collector Jones were short, and upon investigation it was found that he had paid the money to the banks in taking up certain notes of his personal owing. The state endeavored to collect the money from Jones and falling, demanded the amount from his bondsmen. The company will pay the amount at once, but will fight the case in the courts against the banks.

WORK OF THE INSTITUTES. Gratifying Reports Are Being Receiv-

Glenn's action in combining the institutes has already been demonstrated. One county school commissioner, in writ-ing to the department about one of the combined institutes, stated that had he known how beneficial and helpful it would prove to be that he would have been will-of their experiences and the achievements of the companies and individual members. Among the most popular of the companies at the encampment was the machine gun battery. This company was formerly known as the gun platoon, but it is now a regular company, and has taken a high place in the Fifth regiment.

While on the field the battery was complimented by the officers and visitors for the splendid work done by it and the members. Much interest centered in the firing of the big gatling gun carried by the battery. The gun was handled by J. B. Freeman and a squad while on the field. Captain Bardley commanded his company

The little Bell building which for years has been a landmark at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets, will soon be torn away and work begun on a ten-story structure which will be erected on the rarge ments for the construction of the building. Plans have already been drawn for the building, and an estimate of cost is now DISPATCHER'S LAST ORDER.

IT CAME FROM HIS CHIEF AND WAS GOOD NIGHT.

The Veteran Telegrapher Leaves His Key Forever—Resolutions Passed on His Death.

After a sickness of about a month's dura-tion Mr. Charles E. Heard, the chief dis-patcher of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway system, died yesterday morning at the Grady hospital, where he has been for some time under treatment. About a month ago Mr. Heard was at tacked with a severe toothache and had the troublesome tooth filled. After the tooth had been filled it continued to give trouble and cause pain and was extracted. It was then discovered that the trouble lay in the jawbone. The bone was examined and found to be in a state of decay. Mr. Heard was taken to the hospital and given treat-ment, but the place continued to grow worse and developed into blood poison. Mr. Heard had been in the employ of the road for 21 years and has made a record of never having had an accident. He has hundreds of friends in this city and throughout the state who will read the news of his death with sorrow. He was one of the best known men in the city and was liked by all who knew him. He leaves two children, both of whom are in Chattanooga.

His body will be taken to Chattanooga this morning on a special train over the western and Atlantic road and will be ac-companied by a number of his friends. Dr. J. B. Hawthorne will go from Nashville to Chattanooga to conduct the funeral ser-vices. The dispatchers and operators of the road adopted the following resolutions

The contract has not yet been let, but as soon as the estimate of cost of the new building is furnished by the architects the work will be commenced. On account of the width of the building it will be completed in a very short time and may be ready for occupancy before winter. To Be Used for Offices. The new building will be used entirely for offices above the first floor. The ground floor will be constructed so that it car be used for stores. The front, which will be on Broad street the building through a large archway. On each floor will be made a balcony or land-ing which will lead to the stair.

It is not known what arrangements have been made in the plans for elevator service, but as an elevator will be absolutely necssarry for a building of its height, there will no doubt be a rapid elevator for both passengers and freight. The material to be used in the building will be iron and granite, and the building will be equipped with all the most modern

The front of the building will be made very attractive and ornamental, and bal-conies will stretch from end to end on every floor. The windows will be large and will open out upon the balconfer which will extend over the sidewalk and will give more floor space in the offices.

Will Tower Above Its Neighbors. Mrs. Bell's building will be the tailest building in Atlanta, and will tower five stories above the Cooledge building, which it will adjoin.

It will be remembered that when Mr Cooledge decided to build on his property he endeavored to buy the Bell lot. Exccedingly advantageous prices were offered Mrs. Bell, but she refused to sell, and Mr. Cooledge built a five-story building and abandoned his plans for the ten-story

newed hope. He was a strong card, and they would play him to good advantage at the St. Louis convention. Colonel Fuck went to St. Louis chiefly to exhibit Major Hanson's scalp and to hold it out as a trophy. But there was signal defeat to the plans of Buck and his cohorts. Hanson was set aside and Lyons, of Augusta, put on the national committee. The underlying significance of this came with stunning effect upon the best element in the republican party. The leaders realized that it meant negro domination of their party in Georgia and saw that those democrats who favored gold would be forced away from republicanism because of this fact. For this cause the leaders, since their return, are lying low. Their enthusiasm has received a decided frost and it is not probable that they will make much effort in the coming state elections. Colonel Buck had hoped to introduce a new element into the republican party in this state, but the election of Lyons frosted in efforts.

To Hold a Meeting. and Hobart. Several well-known negro orators have been slated for speakers. The primary object is to organize a McKinley club in this city. Smith Easly, a well-known colored heeler, is leading the movement. He has invited Cólonel Buck and Major W. M. Smythe to be present. Other white leaders of the g. o. p in Atlanta are expected, but from present indications they will have to take a back seat, for just now the colored brother has the reins and will control things.

Since the firm declaration of the St. Louis convention for gold the populists who entertained this idea have abandoned it altogether and now perceive the futility of the plan.

BUILDING ON THE BOOM.

YESTERDAY WAS THE BUILDING INSPECTOR'S BUSY DAY.

Granted Permits for a Large Amount of Summer Building-Whom They Were Granted To.

Building in Atlanta has been at a stand-still for the past month and very few houses have been erected. Yesterday building was on a boom and the building inspector granted permits for buildings that will cost $26.500.

Mrs. Mary E. Stephens will erect a handsome two-story brick dwelling house on the corner of Cain and Ivy at a cost of $8.500. The house will be a double one and will make a very pretty appearance.

A fine two-story brick store house will be erected at the corner of Decatur and Collins, where the recent fire laid the buildings in waste. The building will be built entirely new material and will cost $5,000. It will be used for stores and the upper story will be used as a storeroom.

The Eclectic Medical college, which sold its property on Butler street to make way for the new jail, will erect a handsome three-story college building on Tanner street near Fort. The building will be built of brick and will cost $8,000. The building will be supplied with all the modern im-provements and will be one of the handomest buildings in the city.

The new ward of the Grady hospital, which has so long been needed, will at last be erected. The permit was granted to the city yesterday and work on the building will be begun at once. The new ward will be built on Pratt and College streets and will be known as the isolated ward. It will cost $5,000. It is expected that building will go right along now and permits for several large buildings will be granted in a few BOYS' AND GIRLS'.

for American securities from London and the denial of the sensational rumors relative to Cuban affairs current yesterday led to a sharp rise in prices at the opening of the stock exchange here today. In the rise of 1601 per cent which occurred during the first half hour of business, Sugar and the International stocks were nost prominent. After the traders had covered their shorts the market, which had been fairly active, drifted into dullness once more. Sugar then loomed into prominence and on heavy selling broke from 120 to 115%. The recent decline in the price of refined and the demoralized condition of the market for raws has created quite bearish feeling on the stock, but the traders were not inclined to make any demonstration until today, when it was found that support had been withdrawn. With this discovery they put out short contracts and their sales disturbed speculative lines and the price dropped 14 per cent at a time. Reports that certain insiders, being dissatisfied with the republican platform in the matter of bounties, had reduced their lines, added to the depression. The weakness extended to General Elec-tric, and a decline from 31% to 29% ensued. Tobacco held well for a time on dividend prospects, but later this stock ran off from 67 to 65% in sympathy. Railway issues, after the early rise noted, developed weak-ness, which was ratural in view of the heaviness of Sugar certificates. Closing Stock Review.

New York, June 23.—New York News Sureau: The stock market showed strength Bureau: The stock market showed strength at the start, and influenced by higher quotations from London and reports as to foreign complications, no support was apparent at the rally, and business became dull, prices drifting downward all the evening. developing considerable weakness. There was a depressed feeling as to possible diplomatic complications, and a fresh silver scare sentiment. scare sentiment. There were breaks in Sugar; prices fell more than 4 per cent; General Electric over 2 per cent, and even American Tobacco could not stem the current.

In the railroad list, declines from the highest points of the morning reached about 1 per cent over St. Paul, Burlington and Quincy and Northwestern. There was lively trading in silver bullion at an ad-vance of nearly a point on the theory that free silver's success promised at Chicago would stimulate the silver market.

New York, June 23.—Rains in Texas and selling in Liverpool caused a drop of 7 to 9 points, closing easy, with sales of 199,300 bales. The lowest rainfall in Texas was bulletined, and had considerable weight offered in connection with the depression in Liverpool. The local southern and Liverpool operators sold more at the shorts market, market was still dull and there was an absence of aggressive sport for the time, though the German houses are in some cases friendly to the long side, and promisent New Orleans operators, now here, state that there is no doubt whatever that the drought in Texas is a serious matter. For the next thirty-six hours the signal service predicts rain in the district of Texas, and the highest rainfall reported today was only 40 at Cuero. At one time the rally was quite noticeable, owing to the covering of shorts, but later on was followed by a further recession. Spot cotton here was quiet and unchanged, 7%c for middling; sales 82 for spinning. Receipts at ports 6,325, against 1,781 and 96. Thus far this week, 8,181, against4,483. There was a fair business in spots at Liverpool; sales 10,000. Futures there advanced 1 to 2 points at the opening, but lost this and closed fairly steady, at 1 to 2 points lower for the day. Manchester yarns were dull but steady. Augusta receipts were 102, against 6 and none; Memphis 33. against 30 and 24; Cincinnati, 81, against 133 and 169; Houston, 67, against 17 and 49. Houston shipped 281. Everybody is waiting for something to turn up. Many would like to see what the weather in Texas is going to be in the netx few weeks. We still suggest purchases on breks and selling on the rallies.

Riordan & Co.'s Cotton Letter. New York, June 23.—(Special.)—Liverpool ave us no support today, and the tendency f our market was downward. Some scatering rains in Texas supplied the first imbetus to the decline, which was checked by a statement that the rains were woefulfi insufficient. A rally followed, carrying prices several points upward. But the improvement was gradually lost, and the close provement was gradually lost, and the close was at the lowest of the day—August opened at 7.32, declined to 7.25, rallied to 7.31 and closed at 7.25 bid, with the tone easy. The crop accounts are generally excellent, the fear of drought in Texas being the only threatening influence. The depressed and almost helpless condition of the dry goods trade, as resorted by the big concerns in this city, is a powerful factor against any sustained improvement in values. Upon every rally we favor sell-ing.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, June 23.—The market was surprised this morning at the heavy selling orders received from Liverpcol which were unexplained until reports were received from the signal service giving showers at Cuero and Longview, not less than one-half an inch, which appeared to have been received in Liverpool as indicating general rains in Texas. No further showers have been reported during the day, but the action of the market today shows how sensitive it is at the present time to weather conditions. With the general belief throughout the country of a large cotton crop this season, every favorable news is acted upon, while no attention is paid to unfavorable advices. This is not an unusual feature of the market, which has been declining for several months, with a gradual lessening of the long interest, but it requires continued good crop and bad trade reports to prevent an advance with the small visible and invisible supply of cotton. The close of the market was easy, due to the liquidation of local traders who bought during the day, and being disappointed at the absence of support, parted with their holdings. This deckine increased the bearish feeling in the market. The spot market is quiet at unchanged prices. Sales for consumption were $2 bales.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, June 23.—The Journal of Commerce and Commercial Bulletin, in its weekly review of the dry goods market, says: "The dry goods market closes with a better tone than prevalled at the writing of the last review, and in some departments with a fuller volume of business in progress. The most noticeable increase in sales has been in bleached cottons, in which a timely adjustment of prices has brought a demand of considerable importance, and some of the large buyers have operated with freedom. In brown cotton more interest is evinced in the situation, but so far this has not taken practical form to any meterial extent, and the same can be reported of coarse colored goods. The orders for fall prints are improving. In woolen and worsted goods re-orders for men's wear fabrics in heavy weights are more numerous, but in new lines of light weights, of which the display is as yet restricted, only indifferent interest is taken. In silks the market is quiet throughout and dull in hosiery and underwear. The improvement already referred to has been the outcome of the definite currency plank incorporated in the St. Louis platform, and although still confined largely to sentiment, it marks quite a change in the previously existing uneasiness."

The Sun's Cotton Review.

New York, June 23.—Cotton declined 5 to 9 points, recovered considerable of this, and August was at one time 1 point higher than last night, but the close here was 7 to 9 points lower for the whole list, with the tone easy and the sales 109,000 bales.

Today's features: It was not a day of big things in the cotton speculation. On the contrary, everybody kept pretty close to the shore. Nobody pretends to see his way ahead very clearly. Therefore, the trading is on a moderate scale for quick turns upward or downward. Today the turn in prices was downward, owing to rains in Texas and a decline in Liverpool. The spot trade here and at the south was sluggish, and Liverpool was not active. Fatman & Schwartz, Hopkin, Dwight & Co., Price, McCormick & Co., Henry Hemtz & Co., and various other commission

Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

Chicago, June 23.—Heavy new receipts—820 cars against 720 last year—was a bearish factor around the close. The talk of too much wet weather created some demand from scalpers and St. Louis parties, but there was no noticeable improvement noted in the market until the shorts began covering, when offers were withdrawn, resulting in a rally of ½c per bushel. About midday there was an additional advance of ½c charged to the account of the world's visible supply of 5,700,000 bushels, most of which was lost on realizing sales. Clearances were fairly active, nearly 300,000 bushels, most of which was lost on realizing sales. Clearances were fairly active, nearly 300,000 bushels, most of which was lost on realizing sales. Clearances were steady. Liverpool opened ¼d lower, but closed ¼d higher. Receipts at Chicago were twenty-five cars, of which there were graded No. 2 good. Reports from Kansas say that the new wheat in that state is of a very fine quality, and that 75 per cent will grade No. 2. In this market there seems to be no new wheat offered to arrive just at present, although St. Louis wires that southwest Missouri offers moderately for twenty days' shipment. The trade has not been large.

The market for oats is practically not heavy. The Ohio state crop report says the prospects are for one of the largest crops on record. July sold at 16%c, September at 17c. The low prices is the only thing attractive. Lamson Bros. & Co.'s Grain Letter.

CROP BULLETIN.

Comes the Weekly Story.

Washington, June 23.—Following are ex-tracts from the summary of the weekly weather crop bulletin of the agricultural houses sold. Liverpool sold to some extent and so did the south. Less support was given by the German houses, some of whom are, in fact, said to have sold. At one time there was a raily, due to the covering of shorts. Mr. Peter Labouisse, of New Orleans, who is now here, is quoted as expressing the conviction that the Texas drought is a serious matter. Still the day was a day of liquidation. Hardly anybody was disposed to take the aggressive. Not a few of the bulls sold, at the same time the bears showed a disposition to cover. Many operators on both sides of the market were disposed to even up their transactions and to await events—await the course of the Liverpool market or weather developments in Texas. The weather is really the great thing, and the weather in Texas is of especial interest. Liverpool and Port Markets.

Chicago, June 23.—A scalping trade and only a very moderate one was all the trade in wheat consisted of today. The complaint of lack of activity and absence of interest in the speculative grain markets was quite general. The wheat market today was easy all the morning and somewhat improved during the afternoon. September wheat opened from 57%657%, sold between 57% and 5%, closing at 57%c., %c. higher than yesterday. Cash wheat averaged steady, closing firm.

Corn favored a declining course, in which respect it agreed with the earlier tone of wheat and was probably influenced more or less by that grain. September corn opened from 28%629, sold between 29 and 28%428%c., closing at 28%429c., a shade under yesterday. Cash corn presented little change, prices ruling about the same as yesterday.

Oats held an easy position, both on their own merits as well as through relationship with other grains, but more especially for the former reason. September oats closed 46%c. under yesterday. Cash oats were steady, closing easy.

Provisions profited at the start by a better feeling in the hog market, but the lack of confidence in values exhibited in the other markets did not permit of the retention for long of the opening improvement. When wheat displayed firmness during the last hour, product made a slight gain in sympathy. September pork closed 5c. higher than yesterday. September lard and ribs, each a shade higher.

Is Oratory Declining. From The St. Louis Republic.
The absence of anything like true oratory or eloquence will be one of the dis-tinctive features in the impartially writ-ten history of the republican national continctive features in the impartially written history of the republican national convention of this year.

It was one of the features upon which ex-Senator Ingalls made some comment in the journal to which he contributed interesting sketches of certain phases of the gathering. From his remarks the pessimist might be inclined to believe that the days of true oratory had vanished, never to return. This, however, is a view which will not be accepted by any except that peculiar class which sees greatness only in the past.

Sordidness and calculation do not kindle the fires of eloquence. Candidates without great powers and great deeds cannot touch the imagination.

There was nothing to inspire true oratory. Oratory does not consist of mere word making. One listens with a certain degree of pleasure to the smooth succession of words as they fall from the lips of a man who possesses piquant fluency. You may enjoy, for the moment, the academic style of a Depew or the musical and poetic sentences of an Ingersoli, but can such men be described as orators? Does the listener carry away one sentence or one idea from their great torrent of words?

The orator is the creature of events. Nature gifts him with the genius, but circumstances bring it forth. Every great revolution in history, it may be said, has produced a great orator. Of course the orator precedes the revolution, but the circumstances which instify it give birth to the orator. Oratory has not departed forever from America. Whenever circumstances arise which demand a Clay, a Sumner, a Phillips, a Webster, a Calhoun or a Lincoln we may rest assured he will not be wanting. There may be a silver or gold Bourke Cockran at Chicago.

The exercises were by far the best of the kind that have ever been presented to an Atlanta audience by the literary society and the control of of the Tech. The programme had been carefully prepared and was complete in every detail. Every participant acquitted himself in the most creditable manner, and only served to add to the reputation that the school has already won for itself.

In the Shops. At 9 o'clock in the morning the shops were thrown open and the young men be-gan work. Hundreds of visitors who were present went through the shops and saw what kind of work the young students

The last meeting of the literary society was called to order by E. F. Huff, the president, at 11 o'clock.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Dr. J. B. Robbins, the pastor of the Park street Methodist church, of West End. Dr. Robbins said a fervent and earnest prayer and called down the blessing of heaven on the young men of the literary society and ing men of the literary society and those who are to graduate. The prayer was followed by the address welcome, delivered by President Lyman il. Never before was the president of a oys of the school, and these, joined by the visitors, gave him an ovation the like of which is seldom heard. Professor Hall welcomed the visitors to the school in behalf of the students and ty. He spoke of how much pleasure tafforded him to be able to give the pub-ic a chance to see what kind of work the toys had done and how well they could acquit themselves before an audiapplause was deafening. He received many congratulations on his address. Address of the Day. Alex Bealer was the speaker of the Mr. Bealer has made for himself,

After Mr. Bealer's address the young debaters were given the hoor and the war of words began. Each speaker had prepared his speech carefully, and when delivered they were perfect. The young speakers showed great oratorical ability and their talks were often interrupted by loud applause.

question debated was: "Resolved labor organizations are detrimental to the walfare of our government." Messrs. L. N. Wilson and Harmon O. Cox defended the affirmative side of the question, while Messrs. F. C. Furlow and John A.

while Messrs. F. C. Furlow and John A. Betjeman spoke for the negative. The debate was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd that was present. The subject was handled in a splendid manner by the young debaters, and it was a difficult matter for the judges to render their decision in favor of either party, so well did each side handle the question. After going over the grounds and carefully discussing the points that had been breught out by each side the judges decided in favor of the negative. The victors fought hard for the honor of being miners, and the appleuse they received when the decision was announced was well wen.

Mr. Thomas Perrin Thompson was critic, and amused the audience for some time with his original wit and quaint humor. He had some humorous reference to each member of the graduating class and kept the audience in a roar of laughter all the time he spoke. He is one of the brightest students in the school, and his paper as critic was decidedly one of the best that has ever been presented to the visitors who have atterded the exercises each year. Just before the benediction was proounced by Professor Lane and the audience ismissed. President Hall rose and in a sew choice words thanked the visitors for heir kind attention and stated that the umber of persons who attended the excless this year was the largest in the istory of the school. He stated that if he crowds increased very much next year would be necessary to have the exercises in the Grand opera house.

TECHNOLOGICAL SCHOOL TRUS-TEES CHOOSE ONE TODAY.

Dr. Tichenor and Vacating President Hall Being Vigorously Urged for the Place.

The trustees of the Georgia School of Technology reached Atlanta yesterday, and it is probable that they will elect a presi-Among the trustees who arrived yesterday were Mr. E. R. Hodgson, of Athens; Judge Columbus Heard, of Greenesboro; ex-Senator N. E. Harris, of Macon, and Mr O. S. Porter, of Covington. Mr. S. M. Inman, another member of the board, is in New York and could not be present. It is not known whether Mr. Inman's absence will cause a postponement of the election of a president or not. Captain Lyman Hall has been acting president since the resignation of Dr. Hopkins, and it is possible that he may continu in his present capacity temporarily until a full meeting of the board of trustees can be had, at which time the permanent president will be elected. Professor Hall graduated at the United States military academy in 1881, standing very high in his class, but he resigned from the army soon after his graduation and has for many years been located in Atlanta. Ever since the establishment of the rechnological school he has been professor of mathematics in that institution, and he has attained a degree of popularity among the students achieved by none of the other members of the faculty. The boys are so anxious to have him chosen president of the institution that they have of their own accord started a petition that has been signed by every student, asking the board of trustees to make Captain

Hall permanent president. Professor Hall, since the responsibility of the presidency was placed upon his shoulmost admirable manner and it was never in better condition than it is today. He is a progressive man, something less than forty years of age, splendidly equipped for the position and he has hundreds of friends in Atlanta and throughout the state who are urging his election vigorously.

Another applicant for the position is Dr. Tichenor, a man of scholarly attainments who is well and favorably known in Atlanta. vass and his many frieads are giving him hearty support. As a minister he has been highly successful and his friends have confidence that if elected he will succeed in advancing the interest of the school in Both candidates for the rosition are men who, if elected, will conduct the school in a way that will please all who have the interest of education in Georgia at heart. Both have had a great deal of experience as educators and it would be hard to predict the outcome of the election. Some of the board are heartily in favor of Professor Hall and others are just as him in their devotion to Dr. Tichhanor. It lecked last night as though there would be a very lively contest before a decision was reached but the board, when it loes make up its mind, will give its choice a unanimous vote and will support him Dyally.

The beautiful home of General Gordon, at Kirkwood, was the scene of a most delightful al-fresco entertainment yesterday evening from the hours of 5 till 10. The fact that all society seems to have adopted the wheel as their mode of conveyance rather converts all out of door entertainments into bicycle meets, although the scene presented of the many heautiful the scene presented of the many beautiful driving toilettes and smart equipages yesterday evening, might just as well have suggested an English garden party.

nents were served. An immense Japanese parasol, from which hung brilliantly colored lanterns, shaded the delightfully coo little stands, Japanese in effect.

After dark many lanterns added to the brightness of the grounds, and music increased the pleasure of the guests. Beides the punch and ices served during the evening there was a most tempting supper of substantials for those wishing to make themselves at home and return by moonlight, after 10 o'clock.

The bicycle enthusiasts went out in par ties of ten to twelve, and the ladies in their stylish suits and jaunty caps, with the beaux in their knickerbockers, made one think of the pictures of the French bicycle teas that are at present the social fad in aristocratic Parisian circles. Among the many who rode were: Misses Lucy Pcel, Addie Maud, Joan Clark, Jennie English, Lulu Kingsberry, Mrs. Frank Meador, Miss Virginia Arnold, Mrs. J. W. Lithia Springs, Ga., June 23 .- The delightful showers that have fallen during the past few days have given a cool, refreshing atmosphere, and every evening the beautiful Sweetwater Park is full of parties holding converse, sitting around and lounging about in small, congenial par-ties. Quite a number of distinguished guests are here now and others have been booked for rooms. The dances given by this famous hostelry have become very popular. Tonight, Wednesday, will be given the initial mid-week hop, music by McPherson orchestra. Preparations for this have been made that will insure its success. Several parties have signified their intention to come up from Atlanta on this occasion. They leave Atlanta at 6:20 o'clock in the evening and return at 8:20 o'clock next morning. Special rates will be given.

Americus, Ga., June 23 .- (Special.)-A very omantic marriage occurred here this morn ing, the contracting parties being Mr.

James W. Harden and Miss Annie L. Smith, both of Andersonville. The young couple drove to the city from their homes and going to the store of W. D. Bailey asked permission to be married there. Assent was readily given and a number of Mr. Bailey's friends were invited in to witness the nuptials. In a few moments the stor was thronged with interested spectators, and in the midst of the assemblage Rev. A. Kirkland, assisted by Rev. LeRoy Hender son, tied the nuptial knot. The marriag was to some extent a Gretna Green affair owing to slight parental objections. The bride and groom belong to the best families in their community, and the impromptu wedding will be the sensation of the hour in quiet little Andersonville. The young couple were the recipients of many presents at the conclusion of the ceremony.

TWENTY THOUSAND PEOPLE SEE THE RACE

The Commoner, a 20 to 1 Shot, Gets the Place-How They Ran on Other Tracks.

Sheepshead Bay, June 23 .- Henry of Navarre demonstrated once more his right to the title, king of the turf, by winning the thirteenth suburban handicap at Sheepshead Bay today. His victory was well earned and as in many of his previous con-tests, he beat some of the best horses in

The mighty Clifford was among the vanaished today. So were The Commoner, r Walter, Hornpipe, Belmar and Nanki

Navarre. This was largely through the fact that Taral had the mount on him. Clifford was favorite for the Brooklyn handicap and was beaten by Sir Walter in sh. It had something to do with Sir Walter's victory on that occasion, but Clifford refused to run kindly. He did not do his best until too late. Clayton, who rode him, got the blame for Clifford's failure to make his run until too late. Taral was engaged to ride him in today's great race and every one said that Clifford would with a stronger jockey than Clayton out. He was never once dangerous or

The Commoner, with Clayton up, was the contending horse at the finish. He it was that forced his former stable companion. Henry of Navarre, to a cruel drive to hold his own. Clifford had all his work cut out to finish ahead of Belmar, Hornpipe, Sir Walter and Nanki Pooh, who were all in difficulties a couple of furlongs

The start for the great race was promp and good. Belmar was the first to break the even line. He quickly yielded the post of honor to Hornpipe. At the upper turn Hornpipe took a commanding lead. He was by The Commoner. As they swung nto the back stretch TheCommoner headed Hornpipe. This pair had a good streak of daylight between themselves and Henry of Navarre, who was the most forward of the others. There was but little change in this order till they reached the old clubhouse turn. Henry of Navarre then joined the leaders. The others also moved up. They swung into the home stretch with The Com in command, lapped to the throat latch by Henry of Navarre, who had Horn-pipe and Clifford at his withers. The weight and pace had begun to tell upon Sir Walter and he dropped back to keep Nanki Pooh company. When they straightened out for home, Hamilton went to work like a fiend on Hornpipe. The son of Mr. Pickwick and Round Dance responded with such a won-derful burst of speed that the cry "Hornpipe wins" rang through the stand. Grif-fin, however, still had a tight hold on Henry of Navarre. Hornpipe got half a length ahead of him.

The latter fairly flew away from the goad-

The latter fairly flew away from the goading of Griffin's steel clad heels. Only once did the lash descend upon Henry's heaving flanks. That was enough. He knew that he was required to do his best and with the same dauntless courage that has marked his entire career, he put his best energies forth and won by a length.

The Commoner, the good thing from the west that had been so carefully bottled up, had to be content with place honors. These he secured from Clifford by half a length. The victory of Henry of Navarre was received with cheers. The day was a good one for the professional. The weather was ideal for racing. one for the professional. The weather was ideal for racing.

estimate placed the attendance at 20,000 persons. Summaries:
The double event went to Ornament, a 10 to 1 shot, after a furious drive with Octagon, the favorite. Octagon was gaining at every stride in the run through the stretch and might have beaten Ornament, but at the critical juncture Griffin let go Octagon's head. Jockey Suspended at St. Louis.

Jockey Suspended at St. Louis. St. Louis, Mo., June 23.—Four favorites and two barely third choice horses won today on a good track. Morrison was today on a good track. Morrison was suspended for pulling Bing Binger, favo-rite in the three-horse race, but bets were paid. Attendance 2,500.

Hornpipe got half a length ahead of him, but he evidently did not fear him. He sat motionless and kept his grip on Henry's head until the sixteenth post had been passed. Clayton then made a bold bid for victory on The Commoner. Hornpipe had given up the struggle and Henry appeared to have but Clifford to beat. The latter was running sluggishly on the outer side, and urge him as Taral would, and did, he failed to get enough speed out of him to force Henry of Navarre to a drive.

The Commoner put a new element of danger into the race so far as Henry was conceined. His challenge was so persistent and well timed that he had headed Henry before Griffin realized that in the Commoner he had a foeman worthy of his steel. He settled down to ride Henry of Navarre. The latter fairly flew away from the goadtle in the Ninth Round. Buffalo, N. Y., June 23.—The two welter weights, Tommy Ryan, of Syracuse, and "Shadow" Maber, the Australian, met at the Lyceum theater in this city last night under the auspices of the Empire Athletic Club for a twenty-round bout. The men entered the ring about 10 o'clock, Maber weighing 152 pounds, while Ryan weighed in at 149. Both men were in good condition. Ryan had the better of the fight from the start, but Maber did some very clever work. There were knock downs and the battle was a very clean one. In the ninth round Ryan landed repeatedly and ended the fight by a heavy heart blow.

AND NO GAME And It Saves Mobile from Defeat by the Atlantas. MR. KEEFE GETS RATTLED

PLENTY OF RAIN

By the Boys at Columbustand Retires from the Diamond.

LEAVING WITH A SCORE OF FIGHT TO EIGHT

One More Game in Motale, Three in Columbus and Next Monday at Brisbine Park.

National League Standing. Baltimore Cleveland Cincinnati Washington Pittsburg ... Philadelphia Brooklyn New York . Louisville .. Rain saved the Mobile team from another defeat at the hands of Azlanta yesterday afternoon. It rained hard in that, city nearly al day and the ball players put in their time lingering around the hotels and thinking of the conquest out of which the weather was knecking them. Last night Manager Knowles tried to in duce the Mobile management to play two games today, but this Hines positively re fused to do, so Atlanta will be compelled to conie home with one less game to her credit than Manager Knowles had charged himself with when he went away. If it does not rain in Mobile this afternoon the Atlantas and the Mobiles will meet for the last time in that city until July.

New Orleans had rain, too, and no game could be played at Sportsman park. Manager Fuller felt certain of taking the game from the leaders and no-one is disappointed nore at the interference by the weather than he of the Birmingham team.

Columbus was the only town in the eague where the ball park was thrown open, and although seven innings were played in that city, no game of ball wen on record. In the seventh inning the players made it so disagreeable for Umpire Keefe that he left the field and wired Presi dent Powers that he would not umpire an other game of ball in Columbus if he had to resign to prevent it. Later, however, Mr. Keefe reconsidered his declaration and stated last night that he would officiate this afternoon. Keefe is beyond doubt the best umpire on President Powers's staff and has been indorsed by the Columbus press as such. He is generally cool and the players must have made it hot for him else he would not have gone off the grounds It is to be hoped that the unpleasantness of yesterday may be adjusted and that Mr. Keefe will take up his work again this

The Atlantas will, open in Columbus Thursday and after three games will come home for a good run. If Knowles can pick out two more games he will be doing as well as ought to be expected of him and the opening game next Monday will draw a large crowd. Still the way the boys are now playing they are just as liable to come nome with three games as two. And yet they may not win another one

The Kicking Players Drove the Umpire Away. Columbus, Ga., June 23.-(Special.)-This afternoon's ball game with Montgomery as ended unexpectedly in the seventh inning by the action of Umpire Keefe in refusing to umpire the game any longer, and quitting the field. This action, on the part of the umpire, was caused by a heated discussion which arose over one of his decisions, and he was unable to quell the players swarming nning and a Montgomery man ran down toward second from first base, Catcher Hess threw the ball to the second and everybody was under the impression that the man was out. Mr. Keefe declared him safe, however, and there was great kicking at what the rooters thought was plainly safe, however, and there was great kicking at what the rootens thought was plainly a wrong decision.

In the same inning, as a Montgomery player was running in home, the ball was sent to the catcher. The crowd say Mr. Keefe called the man out with his customary gesture, whereas the umpire claims that he ruled him safe.

This second ircident brought matters to a chmax. Both teams crowded about the umpire, the locals using very bad and threatening language, Mr. Keefe claims, although no violence was attempted. The spectators would not have been at all surprised at a personal encounter between the umpire and some of the visitors. Finally Keefe broke loose from the group of excited and gesticulating players and left the grounds. He has not resigned, and says he may officiate again tomorrow. The game broke up right there, no satisfactory conclusion as to temporary umpires being arrived at.

During the progress of the game it once looked like Wyley, of Montgomery, might assault the umpire, as the result of one of his decisions.

THEY LIKE CALLAHAN'S WORK. The New Orleans States Says Callahar Has Lost None of His Worth.

All of the New Orleans papers spoke o Callahan's pitching in the game Sunday and by each he is classed as one of the best in the league. The States declares that Callahan is as good as he was in '95, and after referring to his work shows how New Orleans was practically at his mercy. Here

s what The States says of Callahan's work nd the game:
"Hennessey, the local celebrity, who has lately been playing with New Orleans, was called upon by Powell to do the twirling. The Georgians presented Callahan as their pitcher. Callahan covered second base in the first game, but last year he occupied the nitcher's box.

the first game, but last year he occupied the pitcher's box.

"The two twirlers were pretty evenly matched. New Orleans made six hits off Callahan, and the visitors hit Hennessey safely seven times. In spite of the fact that the ball was slippery Callahan had wonderful control over it, and his delivery was most puzzling to the Pelicans, five of them striking out. He showed conclusively that he has not deteriorated an iota as a first-class twirler. Hennessey's delivery was excellent until the latter part of the game, when he became nervous. Three hits by the visitors in the eighth and King's two errors lost the Pelicans a game that should have been theirs."

ARGUMENT IN CASE OF THE SEA-BOARD AGAINST MR. WINDER.

Claims by the Road That Mr. Winder Should Increase His Indemnity Bond-How It Stands.

The motion of the Seaboard to require Mr. John H. Winder, former general manager, to increase his indemnity bond from $20,000 to $200,000, was taken up yesterday by Judge Lumpkin.

Burton Smith, of counsel for Mr. Winder, filed a demurrer. There was some argument over this and then the court proceeded with the evidence. Superintendent Berkeley, of the Seaboard, and Edward P. Buns, freight agent of the Western and Atlantic, were put on the stand to show to what extent the business of the Seaboard interfered with by the garnishments issued at the instance of Mr. Winder.

The Seaboard claimed that it was heavily damaged by the garnishments on its bank account and its cars. It showed that numbers of its cars, some loaded with coal for bers or its cars, some loaded with coal for the company's use, were tied up*and it was stated that the company would be seriously interfered with. The company, therefore, asked that Mr. Winder be required to give a larger bond in order to protect the road's a larger bond in older to property.

Messrs. King and Spalding represented the Seaboard.

When the hour for the noon recess arrived Judge Lumpkin continued the hearing until this morning, he having other cases set for yesterday afternoon.

However, last year Mr. McKelvy and several others organized a company, leased the road and have been operating it since. Mr. McKelvy is extremely anxious that this road should be extended to Loganville. He has been in consultation with the officials of the Southern for some time, but no agreement has been reached yet.

Georgia Midland Officials.

In speaking of the leasing of the Geor-gia Midland railway by the Southern, a gentleman recently from Columbus, out now of Atlanta, said yesterday: "It is to be hoped that every person in the service of the Georgia Midland railway, from General Manager Chears down through the whole list of employes can be through the whole list of employes can be retained.

"In the whole state there are not to be found in the service of any railroad more popular people. The conductors of the Georgia Midland have a reputation more than state wide for their unfailing courtesy to their passengers, and all of them have long been in the service of the road, which shows that they have given equal satisfaction to their employers.

"The people of Columbus have always felt a pride in the Georgia Midland, and they will be gratified if its new manager will see fit to disturb as few of its people as possible."

Three Wheelmen Arrested for Scorching on Peachtree Last Night.

MRS. WATSON PAINFULLY HURT

Chief Connolly Has Determined To Stop the Fast Riders-The Street Covered with Policemen.

Chief Connolly is waging a heated war on the fast bicycle riders of the city. His action was prompted by a wheelman running into Mrs. Watson at the corner of Currier and Peachtree streets last Monday night. The lady was attempting to board a car at the time the wheel struck her, and she was thrown forcibly to the pavement. No bones were broken, but she was painfully injured.

Chief Connolly happened to hear of the accident and has determined to put a stop to the fast riding of the bicyclers that occurs out Peachtree street every This determination materialized last night in the arrest of three boys, two white and one colored, who were riding their silent steeds a little too fast for the safety of the public along that thoroughfare.

The white boys were Rob Tucker and John Stockman and the dusky rider was Will Dozier. All will be tried in the re-corder's court at the station house this Will Dozler. All will be tried in the Chief Connolly displayed some good judgnent in the means he took for stopping the riders. He knew that one officer would never be able to stop the scorchers, to the riders would be far away before the could be spoken to, and would consequently never be caught. The chief knew that the fast riding neary always began a Currier street and continued to the end of the asphalt, therefore he stationed a man at that corner and another at Pine street, another at Merritts avenue and another at Ponce de Leon avenue. It was an interesting sight to see those officers attempt to stop the fast riders When one bicyclist would turn the corher at Currier, the first officer would or-der him to stop, with little result. The rider would of course go faster. the second corner was reached he still paid no attention to the officer stationed there, but by the time he had run the entire gauntlet he usually slowed up at the last op, thinking that Chief Connolly had ordered out a whole army.

A Wheel Demolished. John Stockman, one of the riders who was arrested, was unfortunate enough to have his wheel smashed in the melee when he passed the first officer on the street, and he paid no attention to the cop's yells for him to stop. He treated the second, third and fourth with the same disrespect. The last officer determined to stop him at all hazards, and as the flying bike passed him he struck his billy stick through the rear wheel and brought the scorcher to a standstill.

While the officers by no means caught all the scorchers, yet their work was very creditable, considering that they had never before enjoyed the experience of catching a run-away.

Chief Connolly is determined, however, to stop all the fast riders at all hazards either stretch a heavy netting across the street tonight or will have a row of coppers clear out to the expo sition grounds. "The lives of our citizens must be protected," so says our mighty

FIZZ AND FUN.

BOTH WILL BE FURNISHED TO

LADIES THIS AFTERNOON. The "Mascotte" Is a Great Comedy Hit

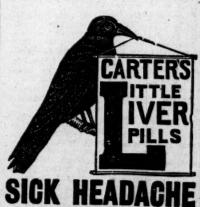

and Is To Be Repeated Tonight. Interesting Announcements. Fizz and fun will be the dual attraction t the Grand this afternoon-thanks to Rosenthal, the adonis manager. "The Mascotte" furnishes the fun: the fizz goes with it through a repetition the soda-water-on-the-side methods of the Grand. The ladies who attend are given water tickets. But that is the smallest part of the big programme. For "The Mascotte" is one of the funniest of comic operas and the way it was given last night, the production is one of the funniest of the comic opera season. "The New Bully" and "Ma Angeline" repeated their hits of the open-ing nights, only more so. Hallam's song went excellently, and Boniface's comedy hits caught everybody. There was a big udience and there were calls and recalls galore. All of the soloists got them-Miss Baker, Boniface, Hallam, Miss Walker and It was expected to sing "Dorothy" tonight, but the calls for "Mascotte" have brought a change of plans. The matine his afternoon and tonight's performance will give the last opportunities of seeing the opera and of hearing "The Net Bully" and "Ma Angeline." Thursday night, by special request, "Dorothy" will be sung, and Boniface and Miss Baker will do their famous "Mary and the Lamb." The same night a novelty will be the introduction of Miss Nella Webb, of "The Brownies" company, who will sing one of the most popular songs of the day, "Poverty Row." Miss Webb is said to be an exceedingly clever young lady and she has hosts of friends who will turn out to witness her Atlanta debut. Friday and Saturday nights, and Saturday matinee, "Chimes of Normandy" will be sung. This will introduce a new prima dona, Miss Josephine Stanton, who will sing the role of Serpelette. This is a special engagement. Miss Stanton was prima dona with Hoyt's "A Contented Woman" company last season, and is said to be both beautiful and talented. Altogether it is the hottest week yet at the opera. The matinee admission, the nanagement states, is but 25 cents.

CROP OUTLOOK BRIGHT.

GROWTH OF THE PLANTS WAS VIGOROUS THIS WEEK.

A Detailed Statement of the Conditions Existing in Georgia Is Fairly Encouraging.

Crop conditions are still favorable, and uring the week past the growth has been strong and encouraging. The following is the crop bulletin issued yesterday by the weather bureau. It gives in detail the conditions prevailing throughout Geor-

he state there is some apprehension that ice, which had infected these districts last week, are still giving cotton a slight set back on account of the continued chilly nights; yet, as far as concerns this crop, there is some improvement noticea-ble both in growth, color and the freedom of the cotton fields from grass. Corn is exceptionally good, especially in southern section, where it is virtually laid by; al-most made in central section, but might be in a better condition in the northern section, where showers were poorly distrib-uted. Minor crops and gardens continue in a fine condition, except in southern sec-tion, where rains are needed. Peas coming up to a good stand, and large quantities are still being planted. Melons are poor in south section for want of moisture, and ripening rapidly in central section, from whence shipments will occur in a few days. Fruit, unfortunately, is not doing well, especially peaches, which should be in the market by this time.

A few localities complain of lice on cotton and lack of rain for upland corn, though some reporters say that the lice are disappearing rapidly. Gardens are in a fine condition and vegetables are plentiful. Oats and wheat are about harvested, the former crop poor, but the wheat crop is much better. Farmers are well up with their work, and corn is receiving its last working. Cotton is clean, and where not affected by the drouth and lice is in prime condition.

has been plenty of rain and sunshine, and the farmers are well up with their work, and, as a rule, the crops are generally free from weeds and grass. There are still some unfavored spots where there has been a scarcity of rain, and in such places the prospects are not so bright. Corn has improved wonderfully, especially the upland variety. In the counties where it has received plenty of moisture it is growing rapidly and tasseling, and it is also losing its yellow and getting on a rich Areerical color. Cotton, which stood the drouth all right, is now in some few places beginning to feel the effects of too much moisture. The cool nights have also retarded it some, and from all sections come complaint of lice, but no serious damage is expected from the latter source. Cotton is blooming, and in some localities it is far advanced in forms. Cane and gardens are doing well, also sorghum. Large quantities of potates have been set out and are in first-class condition. VERDICT OF GUILTY

Treadwell Was Convicted Yesterday of Giving a Fictitious Rating.

GOES TO THE SUPREME COURT

Merchants Are Liable To Prosecution When They Make a False Statement to Agencies.

E. W. Treadwell, a well known mer-chant of the city and until recently a member of the firm of Morris & Treadwell, was vesterday convicted in the second ing to a commercial agency, and was fined $150 or twelve months on the public works of the county.

The attornays representing Treadwell at once notified the court that the case would be appealed to the supreme court, as they were not satisfied with the verdict, and that the fine would not be paid for the present.

The case was made by Messrs. Langston & Woodson, and was prosecuted in order to establish the value of a report from a commercial agency. The grocery firm stated that they had extended credit to Morris & Treadwell solely on the statement furnished by Dun's agency. Morris & Treadwell were in business or to be bought and paid for on time. Lang-ston & Woodson immediately applied to Dun's agency for a statement of the financial condition of Morris & Treadwell. The agent of Dun went out to the place on Marietta street, and returned with a statement which showed that Morris & Treadwell had a stock worth $1,200, acounts valued at $600, while the liabilities of the firm were only $300.

This statement was sworn to by the agent of the commercial agency, while Mr. Treadwell testified that he did not make the statement, and had told the agent that he did not know enough about the business of the firm to authorize him in making a statement.

The statement of the condition of the firm's business was furnished Langston & Woodson last fall and a line of credit was extended Morris & Treadwell in the sum of $137.55. On February 2d, this year, Morris & Treadwell executed a mortgage to Mrs. Martha Treadwell, the mother of Treadwell, which was to secure a note amounting to $780. This not was dated back twelve months and was due one year after date. Under this mortgage the stock of goods of the firm was seized and sold for about heir accounts. Langston & Woodson were of surprised when they learned of the failure and the sale of the stock, for they felt they were perfectly safe, if the report of the commercial agency was frue. Suit was not filed for the amount of the bill of goods sold Morris & Treadwell by Langston & Woodson, but the latter in-vestigated the law, and a short time afterwards Treadwell was indicted under sec-tion 4587 of the code. This section de-fines the crime of making misrepresentaions relating to wealth or property. Attorney Walter Visanska was retained, and he assisted Solicitor O'Neill in the proecution of the case. Treadwell was rep esented by M. Foote, Jr., and the evi dence and trial was exceedingly interes ing, as the result would in a great measure affect the commercial dealing of the wholesale men all over the country. What the Decision Means. The finding of the jury means a great deal to the merchants of the country, as they now have a recourse in a crimina prosecution when a fraudulent statement is given to a commercial agency. The result of the appeal of the case to the supreme court will be watched with interest by the merchants and business men, and if the verdict of the lower court is sustained the test case will have bee success.

Creditors Were Frozen Out. given a cold deal and could not recover

The case will be carried up at once and argued in the supreme court.

Three days ago the tax books were open ed for the payment of city taxes to the amount of $100,000, a special discount of 11/2 per cent being offered as an inducement for such payment. When the books closed yesterday afternoon over $95,000 of the amount had been receipted for by the tax

The payments yesterday amounted to nore than $36,000, and the fact is cited as evidence of the good condition of Atlanta finances.

The council adopted an ordinance thorizing the tax collector to offer the discount in order that the city treasury might be replenished for the payment of outstanding bills and accounts. At this season of the year the treasury is nearly always depleted, and to save the necessity for borrowing money the authorities usual-ly offer the inducement to tax payers. Gigantic Structure. From The Chicago Inter Ocean. The following official figures, as supplied by F. S. Beman, the architect, establishes the claim already made for it that the Coliseum is the largest building in the world. The building is 727 feet long by 300 wide. On the south end, the location of the sixty-third entrance, there is a vestibule 144 feet wide by 50 feet deep. On the east side of the building there are two vestibules, each of which is 28 feet by 54 feet. The height of the building inside is 100 feet. The outer walls are 47 feet high. The roof is built in terraces to the height of 105 feet. The roof is supported by twelve steel trusses, constructed upon the same principles as the great trusses or arches which upheld the roof of the manufactures building at the world's fair. These trusses or arches are 230 feet in width. The interior length of the building, exclusive of the vestibule, is 676 feet. There are two permanent galleries in the building; the first one, which is called the balcony, is 25 feet above the main floor and is 40 feet wide and runs all around the building. The second one is 40.

It may be changed, however, to accommodate any size audience from 1,000 to 50,-000 persons. One very important feature of the construction of this building is that the weight of the seats and the audiences upon the main floor of the building comes directly upon the ground, and does not place the strain of one pound upon the floor itself. The system of lighting employed in the building is almost entirely a new one and will be used for the first time in this building. Corn is of the cotton fields from grass. Corn is exceptionally good, especially in southern section, where it is virtually laid by: allost made in central section, but might be in a better condition in the northern sec-tion, where showers were poorly distrib-uted. Minor crops and gardens continue in a fine condition, except in southern sec-tion, where rains are needed. Peas com-ing up to a good stand, and large quan-tities are still being planted. Melons are poor in south section for want of moisture and ripening rapidly in central section, from whence shipments will occur in a few days. Fruit, unfortunately, is not doing well, especially peaches, which should be in the market by this time.

North Section. "The past week has been very favora-"The past week has been very favorable for crops in this section. An abundance of sunshine and local showers have put cotton, corn and all minor crops in fine growing condition. A few localities complain of lice on cotton and lack of rain for upland corn, though some reporters say that the lice are disappearing rapidly. Gardens are in a fine condition and vegetables are plentiful. Oats and wheat are about harvested, the former crop poor, but the wheat crop is much better. Farmers are well up with their work, and corn is receiving its last working. Cotton is clean, and where not affected by the drouth and lice is in prime condition.

Central Section. "The past week has been a very busy one in the central part of the state. There one in the central part of the state. There has been plenty of rain and sunshine, and the farmers are well up with their work, and, as a rule, the crops are generally free from weeds and grass. There are still some unfavored spots where there has been a scarcity of rain, and in such places the prospects are not so bright. Corn has improved wonderfully, especially the upland variety. In the counties where it has received plenty of moisture it is growing rapidly and tasseling, and it is also losing its yellow and getting on a rich preerically, is now in some few places beginning to feel the effects of too much moisture. The cool nights have also retarded it some, and from all sections come complaint of lice, but no serious damage is expected from the latter source. Cotton is blooming, and in some localities it is far advanced in forms. Cane and gardens are doing well, also sorghum. Large quantities of potates have been set out and are in first-class condition. The peas that have been planted are coming up to good stands and large quantities are still being planted after wheat oat stubble. Wheat and oats have all been harvested. YERDICT OF GUILTY

GOES TO THE SUPREME COURT

Merchants Are Liable To Prosecution When They Make a False Statement to Agencies.

E. W. Treadwell, a well known merchant of the city and until recently a member of the firm of Morris & Tread-well, was yesterday convicted in the second division of the city court of making a fraudulent statement of his financial rating to a commercial agency, and was fined $150 or twelve months on the public works of the county.

The attornays representing Treadwell at once notified the court that the case would be appealed to the supreme court, as they were not satisfied with the verdict, and that the fine would not be paid for the present.

The case was made by Messrs, Langston

& Woodson, and was prosecuted in order to establish the value of a report from a commercial agency. The grocery firm stated that they had extended credit to Morris & Treadwell solely on the state-Marietta street, when they applied to Langston & Woodson for a bill of goods to be bought and paid for on time. Lang-ston & Woodson immediately applied to Dun's agency for a statement of the financial condition of Morris & Treadwell. The agent of Dun went out to the place on Marietta street, and returned with a statement which showed that Morris & Treadwell had a stock worth $1,200, ac counts valued at $600, while the liabilities of the firm were only $300. This statement was sworn to by the agent of the commercial agency, while Mr. Treadwell testified that he did not make the statement, and had told the agent that he did not know enough about the business of the firm to authorize him in making a statement. The statement of the condition of the was extended Morris & Treadwell in the sum of $137.55. On February 2d, this year, Morris & Treadwell executed a mortgage to Mrs. Martha Treadwell, the mother of Treadwell, which was to secure a note amount-ing to $789. This not was dated back twelve-months and was due one year after date. Under this mortgage the stock of goods of the firm was seized and sold for abou

Creditors Were Frozen Out. It is said the creditors of the firm were given a cold deal and could not recover their accounts. Langston & Woodson were of course surprised when they learned of the failure and the sale of the stock, for they felt they were perfectly safe, if the report of the commercial agency was frue. Suit was not filed for the amount of the bill of goods sold Morris & Treadwell by Langston & Woodson, but the latter investigated the law, and a short time after wards Treadwell was indicted under sec-tion 4587 of the code. This section de-fines the crime of making misrepresentations relating to wealth or property.

Attorney Walter Visanska was retained, and he assisted Solicitor O'Neill in the prosecution of the case. Treadwell was represented by M. Foote, Jr., and the evidence and trial was exceedingly interest-

The finding of the jury means a great deal to the merchants of the country, as given to a commercial agency. The result of the appeal of the case to the supreme court will be watched with interest by the merchants and business men, and if the verdict of the lower cour is sustained the test case will have be finances. The council adopted an ordinance authorizing the tax collector to offer the dis-count in order that the city treasury might be replenished for the payment of outstanding bills and accounts. At this season of the year the treasury is nearly always depleted, and to save the necessity for borrowing money the authorities usual ly offer the inducement to tax pavers. This year the merchants and real estate owners have been unusually prompt in taking adayntage of the special offer and by 10 o'clock this morning the entire amount needed will have been received.

The assessors, Messrs. Keith, Meador and Chisholm, were very busy yesterday recording the names of those who paid taxes and when they footed up the amounts last night it was seen that over $36,000 had been received. The money was turned over to the comptroller and will be used in pay-ing bills. Among those who paid large amounts yesterday were:

feet above the main floor and is 12 feet The total floor space inside the building is 285,000 square feet. As arranged for Buffalo Bill's wild west, which will inaugurate the building on next Monday, the area is 600 feet long by 160 wide. As a city block is 400 feet in length, some idea of the length of this arena may be imagined. The seating capacity of the building as arranged for Buffalo Bill's wild west is modate any size audience from 1,000 to 50,-000 persons. One very important feature of the construction of this building is that the weight of the seats and the audience upon the main floor of the building comes directly upon the ground, and does not place the strain of one pound upon the floor itself. The system of lighting employed in the building is almost entirely a new one, and will be used for the first time in this building. It comprises 100 electric arc lights each being reinforced by a powerful reflec tor, and produces the most brilliant illumi-nation probably ever given the interior of any building. The historic Coliseum in Rome, covering nearly five acres, was in the form of a ellipse, the longest diameter 615 feet, it shortest 510. It is estimated it had a seat ing capacity for 87,000 spectators. The exterior walls of the edifice consisted of four stories of three different orders of architecture-Doric, Ionic and Counthan. The tecture—Doric, Ionic and Cormthan. The arena within was 281 feet in length and 176 feet in breadth. It may be interesting in this connection to note the capacity of the largest public buildings in the world. St. Peter's, Rome, 54,000; theater of Pompey, Rome, 40,000; cathedral, Milan, 37,000; St. Paul's, London 31,000; St. Petronia, Bologna, 26,000; cathedral, Florence, 24,600; cathedral, Antwerp, 24,500; St. John Lateran, Rome, 23,000; St. Sophia, Constantinople, 23,000; Notre Dame, Paris, 21,500; theater of Marcellus, Rome, 21,000; cathedral, Pisa, 13,000; St. Stephen's, Vienna, 12,400; St. Diminic's, Bologna, 11,400; cathedral, Vienna, 11,000; Madison Square Garden, New York, 8,443; the Auditcrium, in this city, has 4,170 seats, and on occasions has held audiences of 10,303. The Music hall in St. Louis has 3,567 seats; Metropolitan opera house, New York, 2,645; the Music hall in Cincinnati seats nearly 4,000; La Scala, in Milan, seats 3,650; San Carlos, in Naples, 2,680; the Gradd opera house in Paris seats 2,165; Imperial opera house in Vienna, 2,200, and Covent Garden, in London, 2,500. arena within was 281 feet in length and 176

MR. HUNT LEAVES US If You Do Not Know Where It Is You

Our Weather Man Has Gone to Baltimore

To Reside.

Mr. Marbury, the Baltimore Observer, Will Come to Atlanta To Succeed Mr. Hunt.

HAS BEEN TRANSFERRED THERE

A new man is in charge of the Atlanta weather bureau. He is Mr. David Fisher, who for the past twelve years has been the efficient observer of the Augusta sta-

Forecaster George E. Hunt left on the noon train yesterday for Washington. Hehas been assigned to do duty in Baltimore, where he will relieve Observer Marbury. Captain Hunt will spend a few days in Washington in conference with the head officials of the service who are located in that city, and then he will go to Baltimore and take charge of affairs in As soon as Captain Hunt arrives in Baltimore, Observer Marbury will leave for Atlanta and Mr. Fisher, who is now in charge of the Atlanta office, will return to Augusta. His appointment to Atlanta is only temporary, unless the chief of the service at Washington should change his

Mr. Fisher is a man of pleasing address, of good education and very large experience. He has been connected with the weather service for sixteen years, and has always borne a very excellent reputaion for his efficiency. There are many of to see him here permanently, but it is not known what Chief Willis Moore will do about the matter. His present plans are to make the swap between the heads of the Baltimore and Atlanta stations. but there is a possibility that this plan may be changed.

Affairs in the weather department are conducted very much as they are in the army and navy departments and the officers seldom know just what will be done with them before the orders have been

Captain Hunt's departure from Atlanta was a source of great regret to his many friends here, for he was one of the most popular forecasters that has ever had charge of the Atlanta office.

He has been in the department for about twenty years, and he stands in the front rank of the weather forecasters of the United States. He has served in many of the largest cities in this country and has made a great reputation for the accuracy of his forecasts.

Since he came to Atlanta he has constantly exhibited a spirit of enterprise and enthusiasm in his work, and he has brought the service in this city up to that of any city of the same size in the union. The Atlanta station is considered the best one in the south.

Captain Hunt began the publication of the Georgia Weather and Crop Review several months ago, and he has made it a very popular publication. Its appearance is watched for by the farmers regularly The crop bulletin, which he has been issuing every Tuesday, tells the state of the crops as they exist in every section of the state and is a publication of great value.

Mr. Marbury, who it is expected will serve in the Atlanta station permanently, is a man of excellent reputation and will in all probability give great satisfaction. He is expected to arrive in Atlanta on

The veterans of Atlanta and Fulton county have made all arrangements for their trip to Richmond. They will leave Atlanta at 12 o'clock, noon, next Sunday, June 28th, via the Southern railway and will reach Richmond at 6 o'clock the next morning. They will travel in Pullman sleeping cars and Southern railway coaches through to Richmond without change. The route will take them via Gainesville, Toccoa, Ga., Seneca, S. C., Greenville, Spartanburg, Charlotte and Danville. The tickets from Atlanta will be $11 round trip and will be sold June 27th, 28th and 29th, and limited so that parties can return any time until July 15th.

The Fulton county veterans will travel by special train and will be glad to have the veterans and their friends from neighboring camps join them and all go together to Richmond. The rate is open to everybody and a number of ladies will go on the trip. The Sons of Veterans will probably go on the same train from Atlanta with the Fulton county delegation should see that their tickets read from Atlanta via the Southern. Veterans from Columbus, Montgomery, Mobile, New Orleans and Texas have also selected the Southern railway for their trip to Richmond.

Should Find Out and Strengthen

is the weak spot in your sys Where is the weak spot in your system?

Is it a weakness of the stomach which causes indigestion, dyspepsia, biliousness, constipation, headaches and backaches, or is it a general weakness which makes you suffer from tired, languid feelings?

Wherever or whatever your particular weakness may be, you can, if you will, get rid of it and replace it with health, strength and vigor. Do you know how? If not, you can profitably read the following opinions on the subject and get some voltable information.

Mrs. M. McMahon, of 1 Sumpter street, Brooklyn, says: "I was formerly much troubled with indigestion, but have been entirely cured by using Duffy's pure malt whiskey which I can sincerely recommend. It gave me relief when all other remedies failed. I am still using it and feel the benefit of it."

Mrs. J. W. Connor, of Fitchburg, Mass.,

benefit of it."

Mrs. J. W. Connor, of Fitchburg, Mass., says: "I was in bad health and feeling very miserable and low spirited when a friend advised me to try Duffy's pure malt whiskey. I did so, and am now feeling stronger, happier and healthler than I have felt in years. It has worked wonders in my case."

have felt in years. It has worked wonders in my case."

Hundreds of similar opinions could be furnished, but the above are quite sufficient to prove that Duffy's pure malt whiskey is unequaled for its stimulating, strengthening effects. Wherever it is taken, it searches out the weak spots in the system and replaces weakness with strength. It purifies and quickens the blood, promotes digestion and makes sound, healthy flesh. It should be remembered, however, that it is not an ordinary whiskey, but is unlike any other. On this account be sure and get only the genuine and accept no inferior only the genuine and accept no inferior

FOR VERDERY'S MURDERERS.

Governor Atkinson Offers a Reward of $250 for Their Apprehension.

Governor Atkinson has offered a reward of $250 for the apprehension, with proof to convict, of the murderer or murderers of Augustus T. Verdery, of Columbia county. The crime was committed at Verdery's home on the night of June 10th and it was a brutal one.

Despite the efforts of the county officers and special detectives at work on the case no trace of the guilty man or men has been discovered and the crime remains unavenged. The people of Columbia county are justly indignant at the commission of such a heinous crime as was that of the nurder of one of the county's best citizens and they have aided in the vigorous search for the criminals.

When the matter was brought to the attention of the governor he decided to offer a reward as stated and yesterday an order directing the secretary of state to issue a proclamation to that effect was made. It is thought that the offer of the reward will stimulate the vigilance of the searchers and it is hoped that something may be done towards bringing the murderers to

Owing to the great rush immediately after the close of the exposition, there was a lot of 150 copies left here in the freight depot.

I have obtained the entire lot by paying freight charges on same and propose to share with the public my unparalleled bargain in this exquisite gem of art. Therefore I shall close out entire lot today and tomorrow at 50 cents per copy.

No out-of-town orders taken at less than $1 per copy on account of postage and packing.

RUTS.

A candid advertiser thinks that "we all get into ruts in advertising." Ruts are bad in any pathway; yet it is vain to get out of the ruts merely to seek the untried paths of novelty. Nor need there be any experimental departures from the beaten paths; advertising, if not an exact science, has certainly advanced beyond the experimental stage. Between the ruts and the untrodden peahs lie middle roads which may be prefitably taken. We do take them. There are as few ruts in our advertising as are to be found anywhere. Ordinary advertising wouldn't do for our Clothing. The Clothing is too exceptional-too fine, handsome and stylish.
